Two-Headed Pansy Intrigues Little Lambs

Natural Gas for Island 'Completely Feasible'

Vice-President Reveals B.C.E. Pipe Line Plans

By MONTE ROBERTS

When natural gas is piped into the Pacific Northwest, Vancouver Island will get its share—most likely through a pipeline entering the Island in the vicinity of Cordova Bay.

It is "completely feasible" to pipe natural gas into Vancouver Island—and it could be one of the island's greatest assets, W. C. Mainwaring, vice-president of the B.C. Electric Railway Co., said in an interview at the Empress Hotel today.

Mr. Mainwaring has just returned from gas association meetings in California, and was here this morning to address the National Association of Electrical Distributors.

SURVEY MADE

A possible route for the pipe line has been surveyed aerially by a top-flight engineer, and "no engineering difficulties are expected," Mr. Mainwaring said.

The pipe line route would likely "island-hop" from Bellingham through the Gulf Islands, to a point somewhere near Cordova Bay. The longest underwater stretch would be not more than seven miles.

"Whether they bring gas into the Pacific Northwest States from north or south," he explained, "we can cut into the main transmission line between Vancouver and Seattle.

"I am almost more interested in seeing natural gas on Vancouver Island than on the mainland," he added. "Being an island, Victoria's hydro-electric potential has limitations. Even when fully developed, the time would come when further expansion of hydro-electric power is impossible.

"Natural gas could be the island's greatest asset."

Mr. Mainwaring has been concentrating on the potentials of natural gas for more than a year. In 1951, he traveled over 100,000 miles on research and survey trips; averaged less than two days a week at home during that period.

HUME GREETS 'ROCKY' FOR ALL CANADA

Korea Commander Going to Ottawa

By ROY THORSEN

VANCOUVER, May 15—Mayor Fred Hume of this city extended the hand of welcome to Brigadier John M. Rockingham at Sea Island today. And in the hand-clasp which greeted the returning commander of Canada's fighting men in Korea was the warmth of thanks for a job well done, expressed for all Canada.

Brig. Rockingham came home the long-way round. He went to Australia, where he was born, for a brief visit, stopped at Honolulu and San Francisco, and transshipped to B.C. today.

Vancouver has been talking about a civic reception. But it will depend upon how long the two-war 40-year-old brigadier remains here.

He may pay a flying visit to his former home-town, Victoria, during the few days before he leaves to take up his appointment as director-general of military training at Ottawa.

He leaves the job of commanding the 25th Canadian Brigade in Korea after 13 months of battle service.

It will be the first time Brig. Rockingham has set foot on Canadian soil in more than a year. He went to Korea in April 1951, with the main body of the 25th Brigade.

"We want to give his wife and family the chance to have every minute possible with him," said Mrs. H. R. L. Davis, president of the Women's Auxiliary, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

Mrs. Rockingham said she planned nothing special for her husband's home-coming.

SHE'LL WAIT AND SEE

"I'll just wait and see what he wants to do," she said. "He'll only be here a couple of days."

Rockingham left Korea April 29 and flew to Australia to visit relatives.

In Honolulu, Canada's new director-general of military training said Korean combat gave him some firm ideas about training soldiers.

Mountain-climbing, night-fighting and full use of co-ordinated defenses — all lessons from the Korean war—will be stressed in his training program.

Brig. Rockingham said one lesson he learned in Korea was the need for "very good communications."

"There must be great co-operation between the infantry and tanks, artillery and planes to withstand the massed kind of Communist attacks," he said.

Fighting in a country like Korea, he said, demands the best in physical condition.

"If anyone is going to fight in Korea he should have training in actual mountain-climbing. You use different muscles going up and down in that rough terrain."

Brig. Rockingham gained his present high rank the hard way—rising from a private in the ranks of the Canadian Scottish Regiment of Victoria.

He is succeeded in Korea by Brig. M. P. Bogert of Toronto.

1,157 KOREA VETERANS ARRIVING HOME SUNDAY

Five Victoria men are among the contingent of 1,157 officers and men of the Canadian Army due to arrive in Vancouver Sunday night by U.S. Army transport vessel.

They are Pte. Donald C Kerr, 644 Speed; L.-Cpl. William R. Evans; Sigmn. Charlie Frey, 3263 Rutledge; Pte. David E. Richards; and Pte. Trevor J. West, 1818 Crescent. Also in the party is David Stewart, Cowichan.

A parade and civic reception have been planned in Vancouver for the returning men.

Red-Led Union Wins at Trail

C.I.O. Union Drops Out of Fight For Bargaining Right at Smelter

TRAIL, B.C., May 15 (CP) — United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) today withdrew from the battle for bargaining authority at the multi-million dollar Trail plant of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company.

The 4,000 workers voted to maintain their present bargaining agency — the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.), headed by Harvey Murphy, veteran labor leader and avowed Communist.

"Steel is through with the fight," announced Murray Cotterill, of Toronto, national publicity director.

"The vote enables Mine-Mill to be unchallenged," he said. "Our hope is that all the men will join the union (the Mine-Mill) and get the best possible agreement from the company."

He hoped there would be no discrimination against the men "connected with steel."

Murphy promised "no discrimination," and said:

"The vote was a victory for decent trade unionism. Our job now is to unite the men on the hill (at the smelter plant) and to remove dissension."

In a two-year fight, the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) battled to oust the Mine-Mill union, fighting their case through the B.C. labor relations board and the courts.

Two days of balloting, in a vote ordered by the labor board, ended early today and the count showed:

Mine-Mill: 1,949.

Steelworkers: 1,669.

This gave Mine-Mill a majority of 280. Only a straight majority was necessary. There were 16 spoiled ballots.

Employees had the choice on the ballot of saying they wanted neither union. Only 49 voted "neither."

Final decision on the bargaining agency, however, rests with the labor board.

It will hold hearings shortly on Steel's application for bargaining authority. Twice—on May 5, 1950, and May 7, 1951—the board refused to certify Steel.

Mine-Mill was ejected from both the Canadian Congress of Labor and the C.I.O. on charges of Communist domination.

Murphy claimed 3,000 paid up members in the big Consolidated mining plant. Steel placed its membership at more than 50 per cent.

Man Charged In Murder of 3 at London

LONDON, Ont., May 15 (CP)—Archie Seneca, 33, today was charged with the murder of Mrs. Lydia Riley, one of three persons shot to death Sunday near Muncey Indian reserve.

Seneca, father of four children, was arrested after intensive police investigation into the triple slaying of Mrs. Riley, her niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Henry.

All were residents of the reserve, about 15 miles north of here.

The bodies were discovered in a gulley near the reserve last Sunday, shot with a .22-calibre rifle. Police said Mrs. Riley's purse, containing $50, was missing.

Reserve residents were on their way home from funeral services Wednesday for the triple-slaying victims when Seneca was taken to jail in London.

Earlier, Seneca told police that he left the three about 4 a.m. Sunday after Mrs. Riley and the Henrys had an argument. Police said there was evidence of a drinking party but nothing positive on the numbers involved.

The spot where the bodies were found has been used as a meeting place for bootleggers selling wine to operators inside the reserve.

Police said that one or two of the victims were shot on the principle that "dead men tell no tales." The person responsible apparently wished to silence witnesses to the first killing.

HOPE OIL STRIKE WILL END

Gas Shortage Becoming Critical For British Columbia Airlines

The British Columbia aviation industry, hard hit by government curtailment of aircraft gasoline to 65 per cent of normal, is hopeful that predictions of the United States oil-workers' strike ending in 48 hours are true.

A high government official in Washington, D.C., predicted today that most of the 90,000 striking oil and refinery workers will be on the job "within the next 48 hours."

Trans-Canada Air Lines reported it is "feeling the pinch but coping pretty well." Crew training, aircraft placement, and extra passenger flights have all been drastically curtailed and have enabled the company to maintain its Victoria-Vancouver service close to schedule.

"The main trouble is between Vancouver and Montreal," he said, "where the five flights each way have been cut to four."

Royal Canadian Mounted Police have not yet been able to judge the affect of the curtailment, imposed on them like others.

The force operates three aircraft for urgent investigation, transfer of prisoners, inspections and access to remote portions of the province.

Queen Charlotte Airlines Limited has appealed to the federal government for enough gasoline to allow it to carry on its northern British Columbia service, an official said.

The northern service out of Prince Rupert serves vital industrial projects, he stated, and so far they have not eliminated any of these flights from their schedule.

In the southern flights they have eliminated 26 of 66 weekly flights from Vancouver to Nanaimo. Also eliminated are the Sunday flights from Vancouver to Tofino and Vancouver to Minstrel Island.

B.C. Air Lines reported turning business away every day, and is doing nothing but essential flying.

Mercy flights will continue to receive the highest priority in the company's operations, he said. At the present from five to six ambulance flights are made daily out of Vancouver, Alert Bay and Campbell River.

Victoria Flying Club officials are not too worried about the situation. With 1,000 gallons of fuel on hand, sufficient for one month's flying, they hope the ban may be lifted before their reserve stocks are exhausted.

FEDERAL LOAN TO IMPROVE N. WESTMINSTER HARBOR

OTTAWA, May 15 (CP).—The Commons railway committee today gave speedy passage to a bill to grant a $1,250,000 federal loan and extend the boundaries of the busy New Westminster harbor in British Columbia. The bill went through in about 30 minutes.

K. K. Reid, chairman of the New Westminster Harbor Commission, explained that there was a growing demand for ship dockage space at the harbor and present facilities were inadequate.

The loan would be used to build new docks and lay down any new rail trackage needed.

Protect Freedoms, U.B.C. Grads Told by Spender

Guard Against Growing 'Statism' Envoy Warns; Receives Honorary Law Degree

VANCOUVER, May 15 (CP)—The greatest of all freedoms—liberty of thought and liberty of speech—are being challenged, Hon. Percy C. Spender, Australian Ambassador to the United States, said here today.

Guest speaker at the University of British Columbia's convocation, Mr. Spender warned the graduation class to be on guard against growing "statism" in the democracies.

"Democratic governments, fearful that their form of government may be destroyed by a totalitarian one, in order to secure themselves or believing that they are so doing, clamp down upon human freedoms."

He said this century has witnessed the progressive subordination of the individual to the state.

"The emphasis has shifted, more here, less there, from the 'rights' or 'freedoms' of the individual to their 'obligations' to the governments."

He told the 1,200 students to be tolerant of the views of others, and declared: "At all times, regard the unjustified suppression of independent thought and of free expression as a major crime against the way of life in which you and I believe."

COURAGE NEEDED

Mr. Spender, who received an honorary doctorate of law degree, said moral courage was needed in the defense of freedom.

The challenge, he said, could be met "by the alertness of those who believe in freedom to discern unjustified attacks."

Honored by the U.B.C. with Mr. Spender was one of Vancouver's leading pioneer businessmen, Chris Spencer who received an honorary degree.

Friday, honorary degrees will be conferred on Roderick Haig-Brown of Campbell River, author, sportsman and wildlife authority. He will be the guest speaker at Friday's convocation.

Others to be honored are Mrs. Nancy Hodges, Speaker of the last B.C. Legislature, and Prof. Henry Ashton, retired head of the U.B.C. deparment of French.

Britain Tests Regular Jet Run to Orient

LONDON, May 15 (Reuters)—A Comet jetliner left here today for Singapore on the first of a series of development flights preparing for a regular London-Orient jet service to be opened in August.

The Comet will land at Rome, Beirut and Bahrein today and will arrive in Singapore Sunday.

This series of 18 flights has been planned to familiarize air crew and ground staff with the route.

BRITAIN TO BAN RADIO ADS ANOTHER 10 YEARS

LONDON, May 15 (AP).—The government announced today it will ban radio advertising for another 10 years but left the door open to commercially-sponsored television when times are better.

The announcement was made in a government white paper outlining a new 10-year charter with the government-controlled B.B.C.

Under the charter, which now goes to Parliament for approval, the B.B.C. hangs onto its 30-year-old monopoly over British radio broadcasting but faces future competition from private operators in the TV field. TV in Britain now is a non-commercial B.B.C. monopoly.

Montreal Man Guilty; Slew Half-Brother

MONTREAL, May 15 (CP)—Peter Mentenko, 27, was convicted today of murdering his half-brother, George Henechuk, two years ago and was sentenced to be hanged Aug. 29.

Defence counsel Alexandre Chevalier said he will appeal.

Mentenko showed no emotion when Mr. Justice Paul Ste. Marie pronounced sentence.

The jury returned its verdict at 10.25 a.m. after an adjournment Wednesday night.

PARIS DIPLOMAT TO VISIT HERE

Hubert Guerin, ambassador of France to Canada, and Mrs. Guerin, will visit Victoria during the latter part of next week, it was learned today. He will be guest at Government House during his stay here.

The ambassador and his wife will arrive in Vancouver Monday for a three-day visit before coming to Victoria. He is on his first official visit to Western Canada since his appointment to Ottawa in 1949.

Mr. and Mrs. Guerin have two children, Philippe, 17, and Helene, 11. Both children are attending school in the east.

Beria Is Dark Horse in Red Race

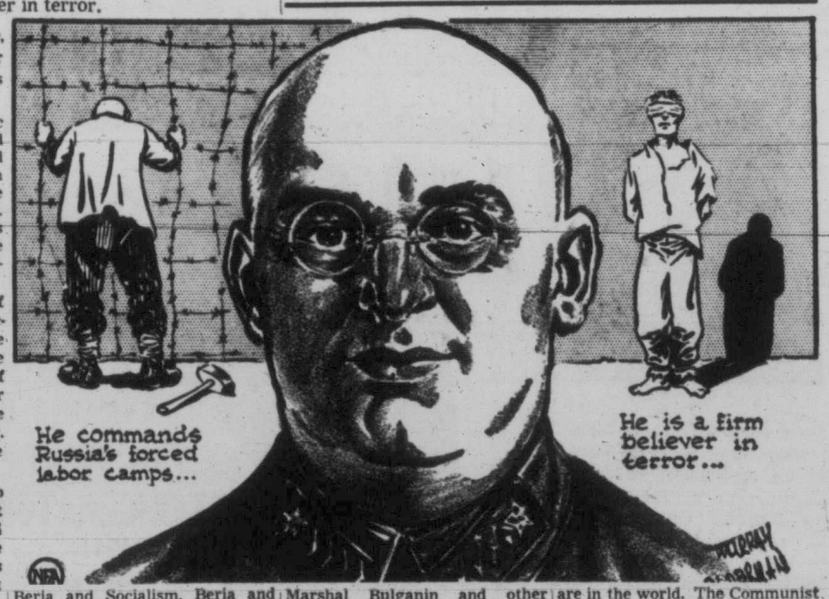
By LEON DENNEN

PARIS, May 15 (NEA)—Lavrenti P. Beria is the dark horse among Stalin's successors.

Balding, stocky, 52-year-old Beria has mild manners and an even milder appearance. He usually wears a pince-nez which makes him look like a pre-revolutionary divinity student. He is also a firm believer in terror.

MVD CHIEF HEADS TERRORISTS

In this dispatch, the last of four on the dramatic fight behind Kremlin walls to inherit the crown of ailing Joe Stalin, NEA's roving correspondent in Europe tells how Beria fits into the picture. Sketch of Beria below is by NEA Staff Artist Murray Olderman.



As head of the secret MVD, Beria wields unlimited power wherever the Kremlin's agents operate.

By a combination of scientific planning—which he had learned as a student of architecture—and by ruthless disregard of human life, he helped Malenkov keep the Soviet war industries humming. By keeping the firing squads working overtime he assured the safety of the Communist dictatorship.

Beria is a firm exponent of strong measures and direct action. He runs a vast espionage ring in the countries outside the iron curtain. He commands all of Russia's numerous forced labor camps which supply most of the manpower for Soviet industry. He is in charge of security in the satellite states.

Like Malenkov, Beria has no cord to the outside world. He first came to Stalin's attention in 1934 when he published an incredible book on the clandestine battles of Bolshevism in Stalin's native Georgia.

The future chief of Russia's secret police realized early in the game on which side his bread was buttered. He attributed to Stalin the major part in Bolshevism's conquest of Georgia — although the Red dictator played practically no role in his own country.

In 1921, Georgian Socialists established an anti-Communist republic. It was drowned in blood on Lenin's orders—almost unnoticed by the civilized world.

Georgian Socialists revolted again in 1924. This time the chief of the firing squads was Beria. It is the only connection between Beria and Socialism, Beria and history.

The Chief of the MVD is probably the most hated man in Russia. He could never rule the country alone. Only as a member of a "troika" (triumvirate) including Molotov and Malenkov will he ever be able to succeed his Georgian predecessor, Stalin.

To stay in power, Beria will thus have to throw his support to one of the two leading heirs to Stalin's mantle. He has apparently decided that Malenkov is his man.

With Malenkov and Beria against him, Molotov will face an uphill struggle to remain in power — despite the support of Marshal Bulganin and other members of the Politburo.

Without Stalin to control them, his heirs may well tear each other and themselves to pieces in mutual rivalry.

But no matter who succeeds Stalin the Western world has little reason to expect a breathing spell. In the concrete, nothing will be changed.

The single party, the enslaved trade unions, the all-powerful police, the brutal armed force will continue as in the past to keep an iron grip on the oppressed peoples of the Soviet empire.

With Stalin dead, his agents will still remain everywhere they are in the world. The Communist plans for aggression will remain what they are now. The hot-cold war will continue to be led by the same men.

It is customary in Asiatic countries to keep the death of the chief a secret. This allows time to quietly regulate the details of the succession — especially when the reign of the deceased has been despotic.

Will the Politburo continue this tradition after the Asiatic Stalin disappears from the scene? Some Soviet experts in western Europe believe that the Russian people—and the world—may not find out about Stalin's death until long after the dictator has died.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

SWORDBEARER'S SABLES

VICTORIANS WHO SAW Mr. William Boston, Swordbearer to the Lord Mayor of London, when he was in this city with Sir Denys Lowson, then the holder of that highest office in the gift of the ancient metropolis, will probably recall the high, theatrical-looking hat of sable which he donned at various official functions.

And they are, no doubt, interested to hear that a distinctive Canadian touch has now been added to the ceremonial cap. For a brand new one has recently been fashioned out of eight Canadian sable skins, presented to the new Lord Mayor, Sir Leslie Boyce, to mark his year in office.

MOTH-EATEN EFFECT

I FIRST SAW the Swordbearer and his hat at the Mansion House when in London last year. And I well recall my feeling of sympathy for Mr. Boston at having to wear the headgear—plus the other heavy ceremonial garb—on a sizzling hot day in June.

I also remember my amusement at noting the somewhat moth-eaten condition of the said sable hat, which had been worn by him for about 30 years—for Swordbearers, like the brook in the poem, go on seemingly for ever, perennially serving with a succession of annual Lord Mayors.

At the same time I learned something about the history of the odd-looking hat, whose strange appearance has bothered Swordbearers and other functionaries for generations past.

OF RUSSIAN ORIGIN

I HOPE I am not disclosing anything which will further encourage the Soviet habit of claiming to be the originators of everything, but the truth is that the Swordbearer's hat is of Russian origin. It was presented by the then Czar to the then Lord Mayor of London about 300 years ago, in the days when visiting potentates to Russia were showered with gifts instead of acrimony.

I don't know how many times the sables have been renewed in the interim, but Mr. Boston will, I am sure, feel much happier—if not any more comfortable—when he dons his new eight-inch high headgear, with its flat crown of royal purple velvet. Incidentally, his elaborate, four-foot-long sword of office with its gold hilt and gold-banded scabbard, was made in 1680.

BUSBIES AND BEARSKINS

THIS use of Canadian furs for ceremonial wear in England reminds me of other Canadian furs that are part of London's pageantry, quite apart, of course, from the regal ermine and mink presented to Her Majesty. Upholders of the British tradition, like myself, were shocked a couple of years ago to learn that the traditional bearskins—or busbies—of the Grenadier Guards were fast becoming bare skins rather than bearskins.

Anyone who has ever seen the Changing of the Guard at Buckingham Palace or the Trooping the Color must have admired the shaggy, imposing headpiece of the Guards regiments—even if they didn't always envy the poor fellows who had to wear them in all weathers.

B.C. GIFT

SO I, for one, was very proud when the Prince Rupert Junior Chamber of Commerce gallantly jumped into the breach, or whatever it was, and wired an offer to the commanding officer of the Grenadiers to supply B.C. bearskins to replace the worn and moth-eaten busbies—and to keep them permanently supplied with skins.

The offer was gladly accepted, and the "Jaycees" of the northern city set to work and collected hundreds of the finest available bearskins—a task that took many, many months—and sent them across.

GESTURE OF GOOD WILL

LIKE the gift of the Canadian sables for the Swordbearer's hat, this gift of British Columbia bearskins means more than just a furry gesture of good will.

It means that a bit of Canada will be incorporated into the ceremonial and pageantry that have come down through the centuries and become an integral part of British life and tradition. It is yet another link in the chain which binds this country so strongly, yet so loosely, to the British heritage.

Civic Staff's Farewell Brightened With Gifts

Their colleagues on the civic staff honored Miss Bernice Alexander and Maurice Johnson at two presentations Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Alexander, a stenographer at the city health centre is to be married shortly.

On behalf of her co-workers, Ald. Frank Mulliner, member of council's health committee, presented Miss Alexander with a mahogany coffee table and ornamental swan table decoration at the health centre.

Mr. Johnson, an instrument man in the city engineer's office, left Wednesday to take a post with the provincial government.

Cyril Jones, city engineer, presented Mr. Johnson with several draughting instruments, on behalf of his colleagues at City Hall.

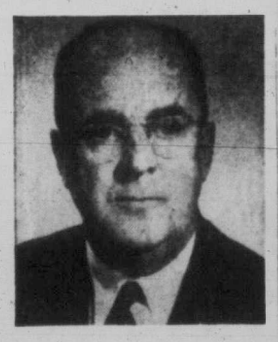
Labrador contains the oldest rock formations in the world, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

CITY DOUBTS JURISDICTION

DUNCAN, May 15.—City council is not sure whether city cases tried in police court in the last two years have been legal.

The police building is situated in North Cowichan, and now council is wondering if it must build a court in the city in order ot have cases tried in the jurisdiction where offenses were committed.

Discussion of the problem arose with the confirmation of the appointment of Col. A. C. Sutton as police magistrate for the city.



Announcement is made by James McGavin, Chairman of the Board, of the appointment of Stuart Johnstone as Vice-President of the McGavin Companies—McGavin Limited (Edmonton), McGavin Limited (Vancouver) and McGavin Bakeries Limited. Mr. Johnstone joined the McGavin organization in 1946 and is a director as well as being Secretary-Treasurer. He was previously a partner of Patriquin & Johnstone, Chartered Accountants of Edmonton, auditors of various McGavin Companies since their inception. A former President of the Alberta Institute of Chartered Accountants, he was appointed a Fellow of the Institute in 1939. He is also well known as one of Canada's leading philatelists, and specializes in Canadian and B.C. stamp issues. ***

Teachers Share Scholar's Fame

Grateful Parents Pay Tribute to College and High School Mentors of Medal Winner

The grateful mother of the girl who won the University of British Columbia's top scholastic award today paid tribute to two of her daughter's former teachers—one of them now dead.

Mrs. Gladys Sawyer, 1866 Forrester Street, mother of Governor-General's Award winner Diane Sawyer, today paused in her excitement to give great credit to the late Reginald Hammond, who taught her daughter at Victoria High School, and now retired Professor Geoffrey Cunningham, who helped her so much at Victoria College.

The elated mother said: "Her father and I feel her success is due largely to the excellent instruction she received at Victoria High and Victoria College."

The Sawyer family came to Victoria from Grimsby, Ontario, several years ago.

Miss Sawyer, however, will not be home for graduation day. She is in London, Ont., on a summer training stint with the R.C.A.F.'s newly-formed university women's unit.

All efforts to fly Miss Sawyer back have failed, her mother reported.

"The R.C.A.F. was willing to fly her back, but the gasoline shortage prevented it. They would have paid her way by train, but that would not have been fast enough. It's apparently against their policy to use T.C.A.," said Mrs. Sawyer.

She was not bitter. Mrs. Sawyer said her daughter will receive the award at the fall convocation.

The university's top student will return next term to enter medical school.

Meanwhile, about 1,200 young men and women will get degrees today and Friday in graduating ceremonies in the university's armory.

Convocation speaker today was Hon. Percy Spender, Australian ambassador to the United States, and Friday the speaker will be Roderick Haig-Brown, eminent Vancouver Island author, sportsman and wildlife authority.

Mr. Brown will receive an honorary degree along with Mrs. Nancy Hodges, former speaker of the Legislature, and Professor Henry Ashton, retired head of the university's department of French.

Truman Will Be Delegate, Paper Claims

NEW YORK, May 15 (AP)—The New York Times says today that President Truman plans to attend the Democratic national convention as a delegate from Missouri.

The chief executive also intends to address the convention prior to the selection of the Democratic presidential candidate, the newspaper says.

The Times attributes its information to an intimate acquaintance of the president.

Truman's role in the forthcoming Democratic convention has been a subject of keen speculation since his announcement that he would not seek re-election.

"It is believed rare if ever that an incumbent has gone to a national convention of his party in the status of a delegate."

"It is assumed he will make a fighting speech, restating the main objectives of his fair deal program."

The president's approach to his convention role "is one of neutrality," the story quotes Democratic sources as saying.

The Times adds: "Many politicians take the neutrality line with a grain of salt, believing that Mr. Truman cannot but help being a decisive influence in all phases of party strategy this year — selection of a candidate, party platform and campaign strategy."

Savoie Returns To Ring Action

PLAN TO EXHIBIT TROPICAL FISH

The Victoria Aquarium Society will put a dozen tanks of tropical fish on display at Standard Furniture June 12-15 to promote interest here in the society and fish-collecting as a hobby.

All tanks will be of standard size and have been made by the members for display purposes, said chairman Alan Pratt.

Eighteen members of the local society will go to Tacoma on the May 24 holiday weekend as guests of the Tacoma Aquarium Society and will be hosts later in the year to the U.S. group.

St. Mark's Church Holds Observance On 60th Anniversary of Founding

Parishioners who have been connected with St. Mark's Church for more than 40 years were among the many who gathered to observe the church's 60th anniversary recently.

Mrs. G. T. Hughes and other speakers traced the history of the church from the time the foundation stone was laid in 1892. Mrs. F. Goodwin, a pioneer of nearly 60 years, cut the birthday cake.

Archbishop Harold E. Sexton praised the effort and sacrifice of those who had done so much for the church and lauded the spirit shown in those early days.

He referred to the work being done now under leadership of Canon R. Willis and Mrs. Willis and spoke of the "many fine improvements" made to the church and hall.

Special services were held with Canon O. Jull, a former rector, as guest preacher.

Canon Willis, A. Cullen, people's warden, and P. E. George were among the speakers at the social gathering. Mrs. J. A. Bulincks and the choir supplied music. Refreshments were convened by Mrs. R. Flint, president of the W.A.

PHILATELY—The post office at Ottawa announced today it will issue a special four-cent stamp in July to commemorate the International Red Cross Conference, to be held in Toronto.

The conference, which meets approximately every four years, is the supreme governing body of the Red Cross. It will be its first meeting in Canada and the first in North America since the Washington conference of 1912.

The stamp is being printed in blue and red. The design will show rays of light with a "sunburst" centred by the Red Cross.

COMPLAINT—Italian Communist chief Palmiro Togliatti claimed today that the Catholic church is bringing nuns and priests into Rome from outlying areas to help defeat the Communists in the May 25 local elections.

Togliatti declined to make any prediction of a Communist victory in the elections in Rome and 24 hundred other communes of southern Italy.

"Too many of these nuns and priests are being transferred from the north," Togliatti told a press conference. "You can see them in every street."

COLOR—When the new ship, the Irish Coast, steams into Belfast, in Northern Ireland, her funnel will be painted bright red.

But when she sails into Dublin, in the Republic of Ireland, ah—her funnel will be a gay green.

The funnel painting is "a matter of diplomacy," explained a spokesman for the ship's operators, the Irish Coast Lines. "We don't want anybody to feel unhappy."

Northern Ireland and the Republic have not seen eye-to-eye on some matters for many years.

The Irish Coast, a 3,600-ton vessel, will operate as a relief ship on regular runs to Ireland from Liverpool beginning next September.

"QUADRUBIRDS" — A birth notice in a Toronto newspaper Wednesday said:

"Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Massey are pleased to announce the birth of quadruplets, Robin, Robinette, Joan and Jerry, Saturday, May 10, 1952. All doing nicely."

Friends who rushed to the Massey home to offer congratulations found the quads in a robin's nest just outside their apartment window.

COINCIDENCE — Louis Keppert of Winnebago, Wisconsin, asked the police department at Kokomo, Ind., to help him find a younger sister who had not communicated with him in 10 years.

Keppert told police Chief Don Scott he learned his sister now is living in Kokomo. He enclosed a photograph which Scott sent to the local newspaper.

Patrolman James Patterson, one of Scott's men, saw the picture in Wednesday's edition and said: "Why that's my wife he's looking for."

TRADERS — Organizers of next month's international trade fair at Toronto said today it would provide the most complete picture yet presented of Canada's development.

Canada and 23 other countries, led by Britain, Germany and the United States will put their wares on show at the 11-day exhibition scheduled to start June 2.

Canadian industries have booked twice as much space as in previous years.

BACK-PAT—At Ottawa Claude B. Hellman, of Baltimore, the president of Kiwanis International, has congratulated Canadians for upsetting predictions of economic theorists who stood for government controls of currency.

In a speech at a Kiwanis parliamentary dinner Wednesday night, Hellman said he wanted to "congratulate you Canadians on recognizing the fallacy of governmental controls and doing something to get rid of them."

Brink's Hold-Up Report Checked

GANSTON, R.I., May 15 (UP).—Authorities said today a captured jewel thief told them that the $1,219,000 Brink's Inc. robbery was an inside job and named "two principals" in the country's greatest cash haul.

Attorneys Gen. Francis E. Kelly of Massachusetts and William E. Powers of Rhode Island said they questioned Alfred Gagnon, 41, for more than six hours Wednesday night before sending him back to his cell.

"Gagnon has given the names of two allegedly involved principals and has admitted that he had knowledge of their plans prior to the Brink's robbery and that the principals expected no trouble from the inside," Kelly and Powers said in a joint statement.

They would not divulge the names of the men who Gagnon said had been part of the Hallowe'en-masked gang that took the money from Brink's garage and counting room at Boston on Jan. 17, 1950.

But they said Gagnon's story might be the first break in the fabulous unsolved robbery and "must be thoroughly investigated."

Kelly and Powers said Gagnon decided to talk with the hope that he would be given immunity in the Brink's holdup and receive favored treatment on an attempted robbery charge for which he is awaiting trial.

Gagnon told part of his story late in 1950 to detective chief Walter Stone of the Providence, R.I., police when he was arrested in connection with a jewelry robbery there. His tale was given little credence and later Gagnon jumped $25,000 bail. He was arrested last month, in Chicago, where he had been working as a salesman under an assumed name.

Although Kelly and Powers said they could not comment further until an investigation had been completed, it was reported that Gagnon told Stone in 1950 that he had met a Brink's guard at Suffolk Downs race track and talked with him about a proposed holdup at the armored car garage.

It was understood Gagnon told Stone he obtained the navy pea jackets and visored caps the masked bandits used in the holdup and afterward helped the thieves count $200,000 in marked bills in the loot.

EISENHOWER VISITS QUEEN

LONDON, May 15 (AP)—General Eisenhower came to London today for farewell talks with government officials and a lunch with the Queen at Buckingham Palace.

The Queen and Queen Mother received Eisenhower and his wife.

Eisenhow, in obvious high spirits, waved to a crowd of 300 that awaited his arrival.

The visit is part of Eisenhower's farewell tour of North Atlantic Treaty Organization capitals as retiring supreme commander of Allied forces in Europe. He will return next month to the United States where he is a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

Charges by Reds 'Transparently Ridiculous,' Says Allied Leader

By SAM SUMMERLIN

MUNSAN, Korea, May 15 (AP) Red truce negotiators today accused the Allies "of every crime in the books," including use of prisoners of war for atomic bomb experiments.

The United Nations command termed the charges "transparently ridiculous."

In a 43-minute speech, North Korean Gen. Nam Il asked:

"Can your side deny that the criminal acts of insults, tortures, forcible writings of petitions in blood, threatening, mass murder, shooting and machine-gunning, making experiments with poison gas, germ weapons, atomic bombs carried out by your side are all concrete facts?"

Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy, chief Allied delegate, replied:

"It has been our thought that in a very short time your propaganda would become so transparently ridiculous as to condemn itself.

"Your statement today confirms that judgment."

There was no progress on the issue of prisoner exchange—the major problem blocking a Korean armistice. The U.N. command says it will not force any prisoners of war to return against their wishes. The Reds are equally insistent that all prisoners be returned. The Allies say only 70,000 want to go back. The Communists demand 132,000.

At Communist request the truce delegations will meet again Wednesday in Panmunjom at 11 a.m. (7 p.m. Thursday PDT).

Joy again suggested a recess until the Communists had something "constructive to say." But Nam Il, in effect, dared the Allies to break off the talks.

"Unless you announce officially your disruption of this conference, we will insist upon meeting to continue to explain our reasonable proposal," the Red general said.

The Two-Edged Sword

WHATEVER MAY BE SAID OF THE wage and price questions involved, the dispute in the American steel industry raises large problems for government and labor unions alike.

The immediate constitutional issue is now before the Supreme Court. Briefly, the court is asked to decide whether the President has the right to seize an industry and then impose wage and price conditions on it—whether, in short, private enterprise is at the mercy of the state at any moment when the state chooses to intervene. The lower courts have said that the President has no such power. The Supreme Court's final ruling is now awaited.

It is quite wrong to suppose, however, that the problem thus brought to sharp focus concerns only the owners of industries and the government. It equally concerns organized labor.

The steel unions believe that they have the present government behind them, that their affairs are safe in the hands of a friendly President, who proposes to raise their wages over the protest of the owners. This is a short and dangerous view for organized labor to hold. Its implications should be noted by labor unions, here as in the United States.

The labor union movement can only flourish under a free enterprise system, for only in such a system can it struggle with owners for a larger share of the national product. Once the state itself determines the distribution of the product no room is left for the labor union. When the state controls the entire economy under a socialist system it cannot permit its plans to be upset by any power. It cannot tolerate labor unions which decide to secure a larger share of the total product than the state has decided.

It is for this reason, of course, that most of the powerful labor union leaders of the United States are as strongly opposed as the owners to socialism. They know that it must doom the freedom of the labor movement.

When the state seizes a great industry it decides what workers shall be paid, as President Truman has tried to do in the case of steel. The union cannot be permitted to strike against the government.

The American railway unions found that out a few years ago when Mr. Truman seized the strike-bound railways and threatened to compel the workers to return to their jobs by drafting them into the army. That classic incident showed most thoughtful labor leaders where government control leads.

If this statement of the problem is considered a prejudiced or anti-labor view it will be enlightening to observe the comment of the London New Statesman and Nation, which is the organ of the extreme left wing of the British Labor Party. In its issue of May 3 this radical publication refers to the American steel dispute as follows:

"Though the seizure (of the steel industry) in this instance found favor with the steelworkers, the unions must be very chary about it as a precedent. The railwaymen have already found that they cannot strike against the secretary of the army; and other union leaders realize that this device is a dangerous and two-edged weapon which could be used in other circumstances to cripple and even destroy organized labor."

That is not the voice of some encrusted capitalist. It is the warning of perhaps the most intelligent labor organ in the world.

Some Items of Waste

FOR THE LAST SEVERAL YEARS the Conservatives of the Canadian Parliament have been denouncing the extravagance of the Government in general without supplying any particulars. They have now made at least a beginning of real criticism by examining some concrete figures.

Mr. J. M. Macdonnell, the Opposition's financial spokesman, mentions for example an item of $46 millions in the present budget for traveling expenses. This sum includes the cost of sending troops to Germany and Korea but even so it seems, as Mr. Macdonnell says, a "staggering figure."

Again, government departments propose to spend $17 millions for reports, films, displays, advertising and publicity. Some of this work no doubt will be useful. But too much of the publicity is designed not to inform the public but to promote the reputations of office holders. It is difficult to believe that the government needs $17 millions to convey its thoughts and works to the people.

Still more surprising is the defense department's proposal to spend $4.9 millions for telephone, telegrams and other communication services—especially, as Mr. Macdonnell says, when air mail can carry information almost as rapidly as a telephone or telegraph wire.

Even added such items make a small total out of a budget of over $4.5 billions. But it is no defense of waste to say that its elimination would not significantly reduce taxes. Even though taxes cannot be reduced without a reduction in actual services, or with a growth in national wealth, waste cannot be defended, and apart from its direct costs it tends to undermine faith in government.

Unfortunately Mr. Macdonnell's good start in the budget debate was not carried through by Mr. Drew. He tried to adjourn the House of Commons the other day to consider what he called a grave national emergency, the alleged thefts of army supplies at Petawawa camp. The government replied that Mr. Drew would have ample time next day to pursue this matter before the parliamentary committee investigating military expenditure.

There was Mr. Drew's chance if he had criticism to make. But next morning when the committee met not a single Conservative member of it turned up at the beginning. After fifteen minutes only Mr. Harkness finally arrived.

Mr. Drew made a gaudy parade of economy in Parliament, when the newspapers were watching. He apparently had no interest in an actual study of government accounts where he might have got some results. There is still too much politics and not enough business in the Conservatives' demand for economy.

Warning From Mr. Pearson

EXTERNAL AFFAIRS MINISTER L. B. Pearson has urged caution in Canada's handling of the Endicott case. He has branded the Russophile's charges of this country's indirect participation in germ warfare as a "clumsy hoax," but has suggested that "we be careful not to make martyrs of them (those who air germ-warfare charges) in a way which would only make them more dangerous to us and more useful to the Communists."

Conditions in the future may force a change in attitude toward the Endicotts of this country. Until they do, however, Mr. Pearson's point should be kept in mind. Such people gain prominence by prosecution. Moreover, court action against them builds propaganda ammunition for the Communists against a country which prides itself on its defense of the individual's right to speak freely. The germ warfare charges probably go beyond freedom to license. They are not the type of criticism which would be tolerated by a dictatorship. The mere fact that they have been made here without prosecution to date speaks volumes for Canadian freedom.

There is another aspect of the matter. Those people who want to believe the germ-warfare charges will believe them whether or not such statements draw court action. Slander is not erased by conviction in a civil or criminal case.

On several grounds Mr. Pearson's position is strong. And nothing looks sillier than a would-be martyr who can't find anyone to make a martyr of him.

Britain and Canadian Lumber

STUDIES NOW UNDER WAY IN BRITAIN indicate a brighter prospect for Canadian lumber sales overseas after the expiration of the present British Columbia contract in September.

According to these investigations, there is a strong probability that more Canadian lumber will be used as a substitute for steel and other construction materials now in short supply and required for British housing developments.

It is important to note that these prospective orders are in the nature of stopgaps. Lumber seems the logical alternative when other materials are not available. But a stop-gap order is an unstable base on which to build.

Basically this country, and this province in particular, must continue its study of means to furnish wood products at a price which beats any substitute on the market. The industry cannot continue indefinitely to expect the emergent conditions which gave British Columbia's forest products an easy entry into Britain.

The days of competitive trading are back and once again price, quality and delivery must be the determining factors in establishing a ready outlet for our products in an industry, which like most other major Canadian industries, depends on export for vigorous health.

More Precious Than Dollars

IN A BRISTOL FACTORY A MACHINE has been immobilized because a robin built its nest in one of the working parts. Directors of the company concerned met to consider the problem of the bird's home and believed it important enough to suspend ordinary operations until the eggs had been hatched and the fledglings had gone out into the world.

There is nothing practical in this decision. An industrial operation has been temporarily impaired for the sake of a robin and its potential family. Presumably the work stoppage will cost the company a considerable sum of money. Economically, this expression of sentiment is completely unreasonable.

Yet there is something more precious than economics or the mechanics of production in this gesture of the British firm. It suffers an intruder to hamstring its activity. It has even gone to the extent of erecting a sign nearby which reads, "Quiet—robin nesting." And because of this irrational behaviour, the world owes and, no doubt, gives to the unknown directors a measure of affection they could never buy.

LOOSE ENDS

The Cod Fish

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

A WRITER in Maclean's magazine asks, in a learned article, why Canadians don't eat fish. I will tell him why Canadians don't eat fish. They don't eat it because their wives don't know how to cook it.

This, you may say, is a small matter to be discussed in this space, which is usually devoted to large and noble affairs. No, you are wrong. The failure of the Canadian housewife to cook fish is not merely an economic problem for the fishing industry but both a physical and spiritual failure in Canadian civilization. In a sense much deeper than the stomach it explains what is wrong with this country.

Hutchison

CONSIDERING the problem first from the purely physical standpoint, one is appalled to move from Canada, where we have some of the best fish in the world, to the United States, where the fish is no better, and then to find how well the Americans cook it.

In Victoria or Halifax, for example, the restaurants hand you a chunk of cod crudely fried, and in Seattle or New York, with precisely the same raw material, they offer you a Roman banquet.

Were it not that we have a more important issue to discuss, on a higher plane, one could fill this column with a description of a simple and unsuspecting codfish, turned by American ingenuity into a feast too good for the gods.

THE ONLY trouble is that it usually costs about three dollars. But Canadian ingenuity could conquer even these economic factors. A wise governmental policy, such as we administer so well in Canada in the case of meat, undoubtedly could raise the price of a fish dinner to six dollars, to the general benefit of the national economy, provided we could only learn to cook.

We cannot learn to cook in Canada—that is the real difficulty. Our restaurants and our housewives simply refuse to learn. They are presently obsessed with diet, vitamins and organic chemistry, with salads, fancy dishes, and other worthless fripperies imitated from American women's magazines—in short, with the mere pictures and echoes of food, with everything but food itself. The Canadian housewife is trying to diet her husband, not to feed him.

AS A result, we witness such grim achievments as Canadian bread which, as everyone knows, is unfit even for the family dog and is never offered to him (for he is fed even while the breadwinner is scientifically starved.)

The word "breadwinner" itself has become a painful mockery. Who would wish to win such stuff as is now sold in Canada? Any sensible man will prefer to be a bread-loser.

In the same fashion it is impossible now to buy an ounce of ham in this country since the processers have learned, at great cost (which the consumer pays) to convert a perfectly good pig into a soft, dessicated and revolting mish-mash tasting exactly like damp cotton wool and thus sold, of course, as the final triumph of science.

ALL THIS cannot have happened by accident. No nation could accomplish such a debasement of its foodstuffs without a deliberate purpose and a devilish cunning. By ingenious planning and a silent conspiracy we are determined to discourage the use of our food. Since we have too much of it and the economy is endangered by surpluses of pork, beef, cheese, fish and other things, we contrive to reduce consumption by making food disagreeable and its price high, through government. This is what we call economics now-a-days.

I am not here interested in economics, a dismal subject not worth an honest man's second thought. If the experts tell us that we should keep prices high, discourage consumption, increase farm surpluses at the taxpayer's expense and impoverish ourselves, I am quite willing to agree, for I know nothing of economics. That is the experts' business and they are welcome to it. Let them pursue their melancholy trade, let them live their barren lives on a diet of figures and paper if they want to. All I ask is that they leave alone our diet, which obviously is beyond their understanding.

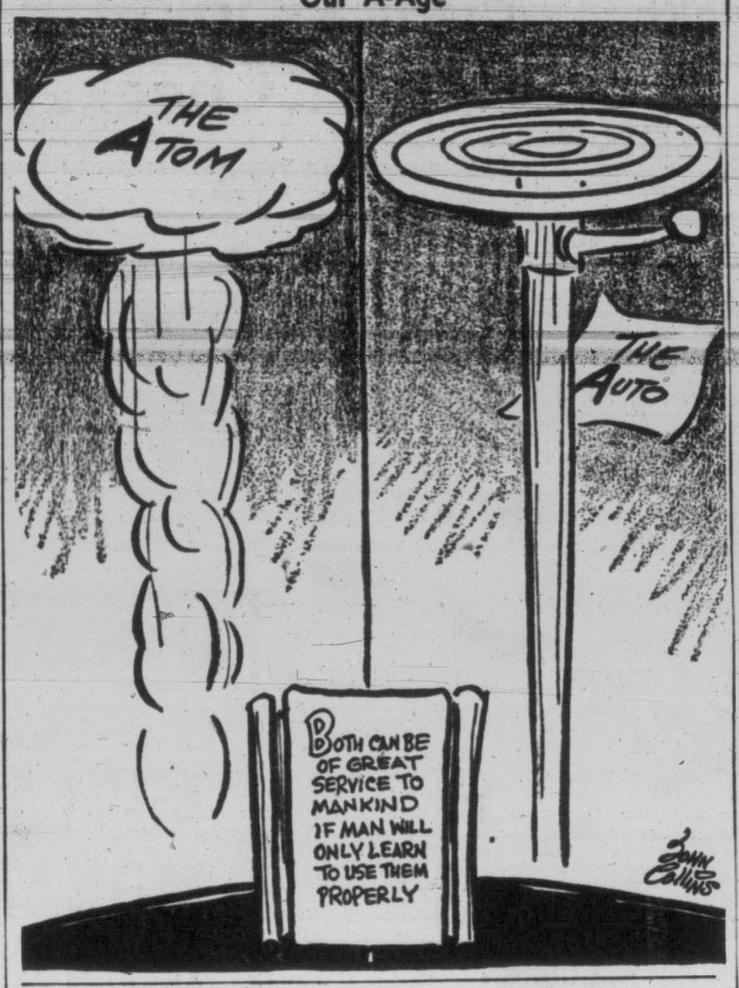
ALAS, it is not the experts who have ruined the food of Canada. They are powerful, but not that powerful. They could not succeed in the great conspiracy unless they had allies still more powerful, and they have found them in the housewives.

It is they who dictate the meals of the nation. The hand which wields the frying pan undoubtedly rules the world. Yes, but even the housewife, in conspiracy with the food processers and the government, could not have succeeded in the campaign to make eating unpleasant if there were not something inherent in the Canadian nature which subconsciously regards food itself as an evil.

We have tried from time to time to make liquor an evil by law. We have discouraged drinking (though never to the point of reducing government revenues) but, since all those attempts have failed, we have turned on food. We are determined to be unhappy one way or another.

IF WE cannot keep sober at least we can keep thin. If we cannot legislate alcoholic temperance we can assure national indigestion. If we cannot sell our farm surpluses then by the new laws of economics we can refuse to eat them. In our national sense of sin we must flagellate ourselves somehow. To prove our superiority we must refuse to eat down to the level of other peoples. If we cannot build a Canadian culture we can at all events build a Canadian stomach. If we cannot contrive a national flag we can raise the standard of the fried codfish, the sawdust loaf of bread, the damp-cotton ham, its price supported by the state.

Our A-Age



As Our Readers See It

FRIEND INDEED

I have been reading the Times for about two years now and wish to pay tribute to the offerings of Brian Tobin in his "Ups and Downs" column.

His philosophy is sound and more educational and uplifting than anything else in your paper, and the humor which he dovetails so nicely into it is, to me at least, mostly quite new and all very apt and clever.

FIRE PROTECTION

The question of closing a fire hall is vitally important to everyone in a city the size of ours. As far as wages go, we don't want the cheapest-paid department in B.C. nor do we want the highest.

According to the papers, our department is fourth or fifth highest paid, which doesn't seem bad as we are the second largest city in the province. The men receive, according to the papers, $1.46 per hour after four years' service. In comparison to other trades and professions, this hourly rate is not so far out of line.

A fireman doesn't spend all his time playing checkers, he is required to keep fresh in his mind all alarm box, street and fire hydrant locations, house and block numbers, along with the recent inspection of electric wiring in houses and buildings throughout the city.

The reported cost to keep the fire hall open is $30,000 which the council feels we cannot afford, yet we can afford again this year in the neighborhood of $25,000 for another new pump truck.

What earthly good is more new equipment without the men to operate it? I understand we already paid last year for a new pump truck which will soon be in service, so with the ones we already have I fail to see why we should sacrifice 14 fully trained men and a fire hall to pay for another pump truck. The underwriters recently stated the fire department should be increased by 20 men to bring it up to the growth of the city in the past years. So what intelligent foresight to cut it down by 14 men, thus leaving it undermanned by 34 men.

In any event, the city council will receive not one word of thanks for the amount it has saved the taxpayers in the event of a major fire due to an undermanned fire department having to cover greater distances and arriving too late. Let us be sensible, and not endanger life and property.

JET FLIGHTS

A few days after an aeronautical conference here was told that jets would be a commercial proposition on the airways of 1956, a British Overseas Airways Corporation DeHaviland Comet Series 1, powered by four DeHaviland Ghost engines, completed the first scheduled commercial run of 6,700 miles between London and Johannesburg.

Later this year Comet service will be extended to Singapore. Pre-service flights had been going on for over a year prior to the inaugural commercial service.

Comets Series 1, will also be placed on the New York-Bermuda run.

The first Comet Series 2, powered by four Rolls-Royce Avon engines has flown and will be in service in 1954. Series 2 has a greater range and payload than Series 1, and will be used on the Trans-Atlantic run and from Singapore to Australia.

Amongst others, Canadian Pacific Airlines, the R.C.A.F., R.A.F., and Air France have ordered Series 1 Comets.

By 1954, provided that Trans-Canada have fallen in line, it will be possible to fly around the world by commercial scheduled jet service.

The flight of May 2, 1952, was the culmination of many years of engineering and hard work and is a milestone in the history of aviation.

POLICE AND FIREMEN

I have read a great deal in the press about this matter of economy which has been a word so often forgotten by certain aldermen during the past, but right at the forefront at the present, just because the police and the firemen were awarded an increase in pay to meet the extra cost of living.

In my estimation it is a disgraceful turn of events, to even think that the suggestion put forward by Alderman Skillings, to reduce staffs and cut our fire stations, was discussed at all, let alone being brought before the council, because such a suggestion is both detrimental and dangerous to the ever-growing population of this city, and to put the lives and property of the citizens in danger, to my way of thinking is only false economy, and something that the same alderman could at some future time regret.

Alderman Skillings stated, according to the press report, that the move was in the public interest. I very definitely say it is not, and such a move has only been brought about, in my mind, because the conciliation board allowed the increase it did, instead of one much lower as was expected by Alderman Skillings, and I fully believe, that what has transpired lately is a quiet warning not to seek wage increases to meet the high cost of living, otherwise someone will be out of a job.

It is quite true that the taxpayers want a reduction in the mill rate, and they are enitled to deep consideration in this regard, but they do not wish it if their lives and property are in danger.

I give great credit to the chiefs of the police and the fire departments for their stand in the interests of the citizens; also to Alderman Murdock for his stand on the matter, and I feel sure that the majority of our citizens are with me in this direction, and I feel that the censure from the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council upon the aldermen who support moves of this nature is justified.

And Nothing Can Be Done About It : BY H. T. WEBSTER

Jubilant

London Free Press

British manufacturers of aircraft and jet engines have every right to be proud of the fine record set by the Comet in its 6,724 miles from London to Johannesburg flight in 17 hours 16 minutes flying time. Actually, the run could have been made quicker. Officers reported that the Comet was "loafing" on sections of the flight. B.O.A.C. officials, jubilant at this record, assert that Britain is four years ahead of the world in jet air liners.

On Saving Face —And Peace

By JOSEPH and STEWART ALSOP
From Washington

BEHIND the new crisis in Korea, there is a tragi-comic story. After months of hopeless heckling, our negotiators were at last convinced—and with good reason—that the Communists genuinely wanted to end the fighting in Korea. Every outstanding disagreement had at least been compromised, and then the Communist prisoners in our hands in effect rejected the compromise by an overwhelming vote.

Joseph

A month or so ago, when there were such high hopes, there were only three disputed points on the agenda. These were the supervision of the armistice, the construction of additional airfields in North Korea and the return of prisoners.

With hard-headed realism, our policy-makers concluded that it did not matter much whether Poland or the Soviet Union supervised the armistice on the Communist side. They also concluded that it did not matter much whether the Communists promised to build no more North Korean airfields, since they would cheat if they could get away with it.

Hence, they decided to offer the compromise disclosed by President Truman, ignoring the airfields issue, letting the Communists save face on their nomination of Russia as an armistice supervisor, and insisting only that no prisoners would be forcibly repatriated.

Almost immediately, Gen. Nam Il and the Communist negotiators indicated that his "package deal" would probably be satisfactory to them.

Even in the matter of the prisoners, which they had pressed most vigorously, they receded from their former position. By an elaborate system of juggling, the Communists were to retain some South Koreans, while we were to retain the Chinese and North Korean captives who chose our side. Previously the Communists had demanded that all prisoners must be exchanged, at gunpoint if need be.

At this point, ironically enough, both the American and Communist negotiators thought that the proportion of prisoners wishing to stay with us would be relatively small.

We have 170,000 prisoners, of which 132,000 are uniformed combatants. Out of the 132,000 combatants, our people and their Communist opposite numbers both thought only a few thousand Chinese and North Koreans would refuse to go home—the figure of 2,500 was officially quoted in Washington.

Stewart

But our negotiators were convinced that if we could return even as many as 110,000 combatant prisoners (thus retaining 22,000), all could somehow be arranged.

The results, again ironically, horrified the American policy-makers as much as it enraged the Communists. A large majority of the total prisoners, including three-quarters of the 20,000-odd Chinese in our hands, chose to stay with us. The result was a situation where face-saving and juggling were no longer possible.

The interesting aspect of this wry little story is, very simply, a clear proof of the Communist desire to bring the Korean fighting to an end.

They were not—they almost certainly are not—willing to end the fighting at the expense of an enormous loss of face, any more than we are willing to do so at the expense of using more than 100,000 men in our hands for human sacrifice—which is what forcible repatriation would amount to. But an end of the fighting was unquestionably desired by the enemy, as by us.

Ups and Downs

By BRIAN TOBIN

"HOSPITALITY," said the Elevator Man, "isn't always what it seems. But you can't always blame the host for getting tired of his role. Often the guest just asks for trouble, like the 'man who came to dinner' and stayed a week. Or they may take things too literally, like those two men in Toronto the other day. They saw a sign on a tailor shop, 'Come in and grab yourself a pair of pants.' They didn't wait to send an R.S.V.P. They went in, tied up the tailor and walked out with 100 pairs. Lots of folks don't act much better, even toward their friends. They make themselves at home in the guest house even to the extent of breaking the furniture, scratching the walls, burning holes in the rugs and losing the front door key. If they only get invited once, it's all right with them. They wouldn't want to come back to a place looking like that anyway. Going down!

Tobin

"On the other hand," said the Elevator Man, "invitations can have ulterior motives too. Take that young wife, for instance. 'I always encourage my husband to recline in an easy chair and put his feet on the mantlepiece,' she told a friend. 'Why?' asked the girl. 'Because when he gets up there's usually some small change left in the chair.' She's much in line with the fella who astonishes you with the warmth of his invitation. You begin to think you must be quite a guy to warrant all this attention. And then you wake up—he tries to sell you something. And that young hostess in Vancouver added a touch of realism, too. After a long boring evening her guests at last got as far as the hallway and prepared to leave. 'Oh, I'm so glad you've BEEN,' she said, with a world of emphasis on the last word. Going down!

"In a way," said the Elevator Man, "we're all guests on earth. We arrive at various times, not sure how long we'll stay. But as we become more interested we hate to leave. We forget the time. Only now and then, someone—maybe a doctor or a parson—reminds us. Often, like house guests, we stand a long time in the hall, reluctant to button up our coats and go. But it has to be done at last. The door swings wide, and we set out down the long, dark path, back to where we came from."

Citizen's Committee Lends Support To Liquor Act Study Suggestion

The Citizen's Committee for common sense liquor law has given its support to the government suggestion that a representative committee study liquor distribution after the June 12 plebiscite vote.

George A. Cran, Vancouver chairman, said the committee should include representatives of the Alcohol Research Council and various ministerial and religious groups, the Local Council of Women, service clubs, Trades and Labor Council, Canadian Congress of Labor, B.C. Medical Association, educators, the judiciary and enforcement officers and his own committee.

The representative committee, Mr. Cran said, would ensure a careful study of all angles before making its recommendations to the Legislature.

"This is the first time in 28 years that the citizens have had a chance to express their opinion on our liquor laws. This opportunity must not be missed. We invite all groups and individuals who feel that a change in our liquor laws is needed to work together for a 'yes' vote on the plebiscite," said Mr. Cran.

Real Estate Board Will Meet May 21

The real estate board of Victoria will hold its annual meeting at the Empress Hotel on May 21 at 6.30 p.m., reports Hubert Lethaby, secretary.

Mayor Claude Harrison will attend the meeting to officially install new officers of the board for the coming year.

Activities in the real estate business over the past year will be reviewed and new developments will be considered.

From an Actual Letter to Your Telephone Company

OPERATOR'S QUICK THINKING SAVES INFANT'S LIFE

". . . I am writing this letter to thank the B.C. Telephone Company for their wonderful co-operation and help which saved the life of my little three-week-old daughter.

"I regret to say I do not know the name of the operator who was on the exchange. So this is the only way I can show my sincere thanks.

"I hope she sees this and knows how thankful I am, for if it hadn't been for her quick thinking, little 'Wendie' would not be alive today . . ."

In handling the hundreds of thousands of telephone calls each day, the 2900 operators in our group of companies have many opportunities of rendering valuable service to their communities. Their work draws many complimentary letters from subscribers.

Taft Claimed Within Sight Of Ballot Win

WASHINGTON, May 15 (AP)—Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio apparently picked up 15 more votes in the race for nominating delegates Wednesday and Taft-for-president headquarters promptly said it put him "within striking distance of a first ballot victory" at the Republican national convention in Chicago in July.

Latest returns—still not complete—showed Taft men leading in 15 contests for Republican delegates in Tuesday's West Virginia primary, with Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower leading in one.

In the Associated Press tabulation, that would put Taft out in front with a total of 364 delegates against 304 for Eisenhower.

The A.P. tally sheet is based on known alignments of delegates—pledged, instructed, conceded, favorable or willing to state a first-ballot choice.

Nomination requires 604.

Taft had a walk-away victory over Harold E. Stassen in the popularity phase of the West Virginia primary.

With returns still being compiled, 1,914 of the state's 2,822 precincts gave Taft 101,077 to 26,949 for Stassen.

Eisenhower's name was not on the ballot.

North Dakota Democrats chose 16 national delegates without instructing them how to vote at the party's convention in July in Chicago. Each delegate has half a vote.

Ottawa Doctor Took Own Life Jury Decides

WEYBURN, Sask., May 15 (CP).—A coroner's jury enquiring into the death of Dr. Lister Moore, 36, Ottawa veterinarian found dead in a hotel here May 6, Wednesday returned a verdict of suicide.

Body of Dr. Moore, in charge of the federal health of animals branch foot-and-mouth disease eradication here, was found in his hotel room by Dr. Frank Mulhern of the United States bureau of animal industry.

The coroner's jury said Dr. Moore came to his death by self-inflicted strangulation. Dr. H. A. Brookler who performed the post mortem examination, said cause of death was asphixiation by strangulation.

Dr. Mulhern told the jury that he and Dr. Moore had had rooms separated only by a bathroom. He said he had been with Dr. Moore on the morning of May 6 in an agriculture department office and Dr. Moore then was in good spirits.

Dr. Mulhern said Dr. Moore was a conscientious worker. He was nervous at times and worried over decisions.

Fort Outlines Tory Forest Management Plan

Liberal administration of the forest management plan is going to drive small mill operators and truck loggers out of business, Robert Fort, Esquimalt Progressive Conservative candidate, told an East Sooke meeting Wednesday night.

"A Conservative government will see this doesn't take place," the candidate said. "It will ensure a perpetual yield from our forests and the certain survival of small operators."

Mr. Fort said the public is dissatisfied with hospital insurance because the system is compulsory and ill-advised, premiums are increased at random, co-insurance is enforced, there is a shortage of beds, tuberculosis patients must pay their own way in general hospitals and "one-quarter of the population has avoided paying the premiums."

"FIRST OF ALL I choose Aylmer Tomato Soup for its better flavor," says Mrs. Butler.

"Only Aylmer seems to have that true, natural flavor of sun-ripened tomatoes—and that's why we like it so much. Then, I know Aylmer Tomato Soup supplies plenty of nourishment for the children when made with milk. And being on a budget, the reasonable price of Aylmer is a big selling-point with me."

Yes, you're money in pocket with Aylmer. And miles ahead in flavor and nourishment. You get the best for less—when you choose Aylmer Tomato Soup.

Delicious! Try Tomato Meat Loaf

1 lb. hamburger meat
2 tbsp. finely chopped onion
1 egg, beaten
1½ cups cooked noodles
1 tin Aylmer Tomato Soup
1 tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper

Cook about 3 oz. noodles 10 minutes in 1½ quarts boiling water, with 1 tbsp. salt. Rinse in cold water. This makes 1½ cups cooked noodles. To the meat, add chopped onion and beaten egg and mix well. Then add 1 tin Aylmer Tomato Soup, salt, pepper, and noodles. Mix thoroughly. Place in well-greased baking dish. Bake in 400° oven 1½ hours, the first hour with dish covered, then remove cover for last ½ hour. Serves 6.

Vokes Wants Larger Reserves

By ROY THORSEN

Maj.-Gen. Chris Vokes, chief of the army's Western Command, likes the brand of man we've got in our reserve forces, but he would like to see units in greater strength.

At an informal reception for the general in the Officers' Mess of the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) following Tuesday night's mass parade at Athlete Park, he urged officers of all units represented to act as recruiting agents.

"I would like each one of you to pledge yourselves to bring at least two more men into the reserve army in the near future," said the blond-moustached veteran of the Italian campaign in the First World War.

This writer asked the general for his reaction to General Crerar's charge that Canada's army today was "just a showcase army—with nothing to back up the frontal display."

"Oh, no, you can't draw me into that one! Comment will have to come from higher up."

"I've been to Germany and watched the Canadian 27th Brigade in training. It's a wonderful brigade, a credit to Canada," said the general.

H.M.C.S. Malahat, reserve naval division news: Quarterly and cruise pay Monday night during "stand easy". Lieut. Albert G. Bird is in R.C.N. Hospital. Lieut. Cmdr. W. B. McGregor will act as staff officer of the division until Lieut. Bird returns.

Capt. T. L. Larkin, formerly based at Esquimalt, obtained the highest marks in Canada in the preparatory staff course examinations held last March. He is now with the directorate of artillery, Ottawa.

Up-Island Centres Plan Festivities for May 24

Although southern Vancouver Island will be quiet May 24, some of the most ambitious celebration programs in years have been scheduled in Nanaimo, Fulford Harbor on Salt Spring Island, Chemainus, Port Alberni and Cumberland.

In Nanaimo the May Queen crowning will be May 23, followed by maypole dancing. May 24 will see the annual soap box derby on Commercial Street; a grand parade at 12.45, and dedication in Piper Park of the locomotive used to haul coal from Wellington to Departure Bay in 1883.

Engineer who will roll it into its permanent foundation will be Joseph Rozzano, son of its first engineer.

NATIONAL GROUPS

In the evening a cavalcade of nations will be held in the Civic Arena, when national groups from Hungary, Italy, China, Norway, Ireland and Scotland will take part.

There will also be a band concert, baseball game, carnival, street dance, and juvenile show.

In Port Alberni the big show will be sponsored by Alberni Valley Elks Lodge No. 101. Several Victoria bands, parade groups, and entertainers will take part in the celebration, and one of the big features will be the Elks' kiddies day.

Victoria Elks and Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association will sponsor a special train to Port Alberni that will make stops at Cobble Hill, Duncan, Chemainus and Parksville, and arrive at Port Alberni at 11.30 a.m.

The train will leave Port Alberni at 7 o'clock in the evening, arriving back in Victoria at 1 a.m.

At Fulford Harbor residents of Salt Spring and other Gulf Islands will congregate by motorboat, ferry and automobile to enjoy the parade, May Queen's coronation, tug of war, horseshoe pitching contest and a grand ball at night in the community hall.

Among the groups entertaining will be the Sidney Junior Band and Eagles' girls' drill team.

Spread over a three-day celebration at Chemainus will be a parade, soap box derby trial, model airplane display, a baseball tournament and crowning of the town's May Queen.

The annual celebration at Cumberland will feature a parade, children's sports, athletic events in the afternoon and an Empire Day ball at night.

Veteran Fisheries Officer Dies Suddenly in Nanaimo

NANAIMO, May 15—Funeral services will be held Friday under Canadian Legion auspices for John Franklin Tait, 63, regional supervisor of fisheries for the federal government who died suddenly at his home.

Native son of Victoria and member of a well-known Victoria family, he was with the department for 35 years, and had been in charge at Nanaimo since 1931.

Surviving are his widow; three sons, William L. and James E., Nanaimo, and John F., Victoria; two daughters, Mrs. Mitchell Gay, Nanaimo, and Mrs. Olive MacFarlane, Port Alberni; four brothers, D. S. Tait, Vancouver; E. L. Tait, Victoria; Dr. E. S. Tait, Lake Cowichan, and H. C. Tait, London, England; two sisters, Mrs. Hazel McFee, San Francisco, and Amy, interior B.C.

By-Law Aimed At Bar Clubs

PORT ALBERNI, May 15—A new by-law restricting operation of bar clubs here has been given first reading by city council, and is expected to tighten existing authority.

Hours will now be between 10 a.m. and 1 a.m. instead of full 24 hours per day, license fees will include an extra $10 manager's license, applications must include a police chief's report on club managers and officials, and stricter membership rules will be observed.

QUALICUM BEACH, May 15—Rehearsals are under way for an open-air performance of "Macbeth" at Qualicum College, to be produced by R. I. Knight, headmaster.

Ian Thorne, Victoria director-writer, will take the part of Macduff, and Lloyd Tombs, senior bay in the school, will play the title role.

Duncan Chamber Names Officers

DUNCAN, May 15—C. R. Porter has been officially installed as president of Duncan Chamber of Commerce, with P. H. Dunne as secretary-treasurer.

Councillors elected were F. G. Aldersey, G. P. Macmillan, J. Allan, R. Cawley, E. B. Evans, N. H. Gourlay, E. V. Laver, H. Linnell, H. Lowe, H. Marsh, W. S. Robertson, and A. J. Williams.

It Was Hailing Lacrosse Balls All Night

Some people see spots, others see flying saucers. For a solid hour Wednesday night at Memorial Arena, Nanaimo goalie Fred Fulla saw nothing but clouds of white lacrosse balls being heaved at him by Victoria Shamrocks. Fulla was a good umbrella as he stopped 51 of the missiles, although Shamrocks scored enough for an easy 12-4 victory in their Intercity Lacrosse League home opener. Here Fulla throws his barrel chest in the path of a shot from Tommy Druce, who scored twice although Fulla got the best of him on this try.

Rocks Plaster Sons in Yawnsome First-Nighter

Fulla Only Nanaimo Star In Lustreless Exhibition

By DENNY BOYD

Victoria Shamrocks could have walked off the floor after Wednesday night's 1952 home lacrosse opener, gone to a dance without taking showers and not had to worry about offending anyone.

In disposing of Nanaimo's punchless Native Sons 12-4 the Rocks didn't work up enough perspiration to moisten a lady's pocket hankie, and should be well rested when they board their chartered plane for the game with New Westminster Salmonacs tonight at the Queen city.

	W	L	GF	GA	Pts
SHAMROCKS	2	0	25	12	4
Salmonacs	2	0	34	20	4
Indians	1	0	8	6	2
Nanaimo	0	2	16	34	0
Vancouver	0	3	22	45	0

One Shamrock player complained of being arm weary from the number of shots he took at Nanaimo goalie Fred Fulla. Another hastily explained a few scattered drops of perspiration on his brow by saying: "Well it was pretty hot in the arena tonight."

The game was stricty from three-quarter time, resembling at times Arthur Murray's favorite waltz sequence.

PASS THE TEA, MABEL

The Rocks were willing—they flung heaps of rubber at Fulla—but the Sons could neither attack nor defend and settled for a spoiling game which left most of the fans in a yawning mood when the final whistle mercifully sounded.

The Sons were a distinct disappointment, particularly to anyone who saw them play in their home diggings Saturday night when they were every bit as good as the Salmonacs.

Their defense was not orderly and allowed the Rocks to constantly shake one or two men loose in front of the goal. Their attack was hampered by inept stick-handling and the inability to scoop up loose balls.

The one redeeming factor that made the Sons a worthwhile investment was Fulla. He was phenomenal.

FULLA WAS HOT

Fulla, who stands in his nets and just dares forwards to shoot on him, kicked out the amazing total of 51 shots out of the 63 the Rocks sent at his citadel.

He was particularly effective in foiling the power line of Archie Browning, Larry Booth and Whitey Severson, allowing Booth and Severson a goal and assist each but blanking Browning completely. Fulla blocked 19 shots in the third-quarter alone, many of the saves bordering on the unbelievable.

COATES GETS FIRST

Veteran Norm Coates had the honor of being the first Rock to score at home this season after Fulla had made two great saves on Booth.

Buck Bennie tied it up with a pretty goal at 3.41, getting in close on a neat block by Spud Morelli and beating Buzz Long with a cross-handed shot to the open side. Darrell Popham broke the momentary deadlock and from that point on the Rocks were off to the races.

It was 3-1 at the end of the first, Popham duplicating his tie-breaker on a pass from Jackie Northup, and it was 7-1 at the half as Tom Druce, Severson, Booth and Popham, with his third; scored in that order while Nanaimo failed even to make an official shot on the Shamrock net.

The clubs split two goals in the third, Northup from Ferguson for the Rocks and Clem Linford rapping in his own rebound from the backboards.

Don White bounced a long one past Long to open the final furlong, but Norm Baker, Tommy Druce, Art Green and Bob Monaghan replied for the Irish.

Patty Patterson, on a pass from Pottsy Potts, ended the scoring with Nanaimo's fourth goal at 14.40 of the last frame.

McMILLAN HONORED

In a pre-game ceremony, injured Red McMillan thanked the capacity house for all their help and messages of good luck since his accident. Members of the team presented Mrs. McMillan with a bouquet of flowers and Red faced of the first ball.

One possible non-starter tonight at New Westminster will be Norm Baker, who received a painful kidney bruise. Baker reported he was butt-ended in the third quarter and aggravated the injury later in the game.

WHEN ALLEN HITS, HE HITS

Tyees Regain League Lead

With rookie outfielder Harvey Allen making his first Western International Baseball League hit a momentous one, Victoria Tyees snapped back into first place in the league standings Wednesday night by pasting Tri-City Braves, 15-4, in a lop-sided contest seen by less than 300 fans.

Allen, who had been used mainly in pinch-hitting roles or had been injected into the line-up late in the game, was without the scratchiest of base hits before Wednesday night, but now he is the owner of what has been called the longest hit—400-foot plus home run—seen in the Tri-City park.

EARLY DELUGE

Previous to Allen's long clout, Tyees had rammed six runs across in the first inning before starting pitcher Ken Michaelson got a man out.

A walk to John Treece and successive singles by Bob Moniz and Cec Garriott scored the first run. After Don Pries walked to load the bases, Chuck Abernathy cleared them with a double. Abernathy in turn scored on Gladstone's double. Gladstone rode home on two infield outs.

Braves got two back in their half of the first inning but Allen's homer equalized the output.

FOURTH FOR BEN

Ben Lorino, who pitched a dazzling three-hit shutout in his last regular turn, had a fairly easy time in hanging up his fourth win against one loss. Lorino gave the Braves seven hits and struck out 11. He leads the league in that department with a total of 41 whiffs.

Wenatchee's 2-1 victory over Spokane Indians enabled Victoria to regain first place by 18 percentage points.

LUBY STEALS HOME

Salem Senators beat Vancouver Capilanos, 5-4, in a thriller that saw Salem manager Hug Luby score the winning run with a steal of home in the seventh inning. Ray McNulty was the winning pitcher, giving up nine hits.

Yakima Bears climbed out of the cellar with a double win over Lewiston Broncs, 3-2 and 7-4.

Mount View Rallies to Nip Esquimalt

Breaking loose for 10 runs in the last two innings, Mount View High School came from behind the eight-ball to score a 12-9 Victory over Esquimalt in an Inter-High Senior Boys Softball League game at Esquimalt, Wednesday.

Esquimalt led 8-2 at one time but Mount View teed off on pitcher George Wright and bombed his successor Gordy Jones. Allan Wilson received credit for the win.

In junior games Monday Mount View beat Esquimalt, 12-7, and Oak Bay dumped Mount Douglas, 11-2.

Sal 'The Barber' Shaves 'Em Close

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

Don't take this one too seriously, the Shamrocks 12-4 victory over Nanaimo Native Sons.

The home opener for the Irish wasn't any criterion of what to expect in the future. Freddie Fulla, the fabulous Nanaimo fat man, stealing the thunder in a tremendous display.

Fulla's anticipation was amazing as the Rocks did everything but knock his feet from under him, an improved Larry Booth in particular finding Fulla filling the bill to perfection.

"I kind of expected it," Nanaimo coach Harry Campbell said. "They're a wonderful team, the Shamrocks. They've got all the potential and with Fulla . . . if they had Fulla I'd say they had the Mann Cup final wrapped up right now. Even without him, they're terrific.

Walker

"But I'm not too disappointed in the result," he continued. "It's going to take time to build up the Nanaimo team. We've had six weeks' hard practice, but the boys still get excited in the clutch and revert to their old style.

"They forget the cardinal rule . . . play the man and not the ball. I've been trying to drill it into them and by mid-June we should know how we stand."

And it was like that on the Nanaimo bench, Campbell pleading with his players time and time again as the score mounted but, thanks to Fulla, mounted slowly.

"Once again fellows, stay with your man and don't play the ball," was Campbell's plaintive plea with each succeeding line change.

Ready and Willing But Not Yet Able

Harry spotted the Shamrock key play early in the game, the one where Booth, the trigger man, stands on the edge of the goal crease . . . and Booth was still standing at the end of the game, which established the point Campbell was making.

"Ragged" was the brief comment coach Arnold Ferguson of the Rocks had to say about the debut in which Fulla walked off with the silver spoon. "But at least we were getting our shots away," was Fergie's afterthought regarding Fulla's fantastic 51 saves.

"Two players, a playmaker on each line, a steadying influence might make the difference with Nanaimo," referee Gordy Folka said from his neutral corner. "They didn't display the hustle tonight they did Saturday (a 14-12 loss to New Westminster Salmonacs)

"This was Nanaimo, the league question mark, against the Irish, the circuit's powerhouse "And this is our team," said Campbell. "I think you'll see an improvement."

For the Rocks, the game was little more than shooting practice with Fulla doing the catching. Fulla and the goal posts which the Rocks must have hit at least an even dozen times.

The Rocks Knew 'It Was Too Easy'

And shades of the P.C.H.L. playoffs—two apparent goals which didn't count. Les Hickey would have loved it when Booth whipped one under the bar in the third period and the goal judge shook his head. And Bill Seward, the Nanaimo rifle with probably the hardest shot in the entire league, whipping the stick out of goalie Buzz Long's hands with a projectile from near centre floor late in the game.

Yes, the Irish have it, and in large doses, the main potent being a fast, alert, hard-running unit, but it wasn't a true test.

The players were grinning as they came off the floor as early as the first period. It was too easy trapping the Nanaimo defense, a fault that will be rectified according to Campbell, who saw the game through unprejudiced eyes.

Lacrosse commission secretary Tommy Gordon was worried, not about the Irish, but Nanaimo. But Gordon shouldn't think too harshly. Campbell's working on a long-range plan, and with Fulla the fulcrum he may yet turn those frowns to furrows of delight. It is to be hoped so.

Giants' Ace In Sixth Straight Win

Sal (The Barber) Maglie is shaving National League hitters so close the boys are objecting to the lather.

Cincinnati did its best to upset the New York Giants ace Wednesday with repeated demands to see the ball. The intimation was that Maglie might be sneaking in a "spitter." The umps could find nothing wrong.

Maglie was so upset he cooled off the Reds with six hits, 8-3 for his sixth straight victory. Unbeaten in 1952, the 34-year-old righthander is off to a flying start toward another big year, like his 23-6 mark last season.

The champion Giants, on a five-game win spree, have won 16 of their last 18 to open up a two-game lead on the runner-up Brooklyn Dodgers.

Bobby Thomson, the golden boy of the '51 season, got the Giants off fast with a first-inning triple and a steal of home. Home runs by Willie Mays and West Westrum helped.

Gerry Staley, beaten only by Maglie in compiling a 6-1 record for St. Louis, shoved Brooklyn another game behind the Giants with a steady six-hitter for a 5-1 victory. Solly Hemus was the big hitter for the Cards, hammering home three runs with a home run and triple.

CARDS REVAMPED

After Tuesday's trade, the Cards presented a revamped infield with Dick Sisler, an old Card of 1946-47 vintage, returning from Cincinnati to take over first base. Manager Eddie Stanky benched himself to return Red Schoendienst to second and reinstated Billy Johnson as his third baseman. Only Hemus remained. With Granny Hamner and Willie Jones doing the heavy bombing, Russ Meyer finally dodged the hard luck that trailed him in four previous games to lift the Phillies over Chicago, 9-2. Hamner homered, tripled and singled while Jones drove in four runs with his fifth homer and a single.

Pete Whisenant's single with the bases loaded, juggled by shortstop George Strickland just long enough to let Jack Daniels score, gave the Boston Braves a 10th-inning 4-3 edge over Pittsburgh.

YANKS STOP TRIBE

Hank Bauer and Johnny Sain were the chief agents helping the New York Yankees catch up with Cleveland for a 5-3 win after losing four straight to the Tribe.

Bauer, sizzling as a leadoff hitter, paved the way for tobacco-chawin' Sain with a homer, double and four runs batted in.

The Boston Red Sox continued to wrestle with their same old problem—how to win away from Fenway Park—as they lost their sixth straight on the road, 6-3 at Chicago.

SENATORS HALTED

Newly-wed Vic Wertz rejoined the Detroit Tigers and blasted a tie-breaking home run off Washington's Sid Hudson in the eighth for a 3-2 win. Art Houtteman turned back the Senators, who had won nine of their last 10.

The St. Louis Browns snapped out of a batting slump to rack up four Philadelphia pitchers with a 12-7 win. Satch Paige kept the Browns in front with a fine relief job after Gene Bearden faltered in the seventh.

Doug Bonar, May Wong Capture Mt. Doug Honors

Skeena House was crowned interhouse track and field champions in the annual sport meet at Mount Douglas High School, Wednesday.

The Skeena stars racked up a total of 100½ points to edge Fraser House which collected 89½ points. Douglas House, with 68 points, was third.

Top individual performance was hung up by Doug Bonar who copped the senior boys' crown with five firsts and one second. Bonar won the 100 yards, 220, broad jump, high jump and open shotput.

Senior girls' championship was won by May Wong who edged Joyce Johnson by a single point.

Sprinter Mike Morry won the 100, 220, 440 and high jump and was second in the broad jump to take the junior boys' championship with ease.

Joan Sutherland won three first-place ribbons and one third for the junior girls' championship, defeating Verna Hearn by 4½ points.

Salas New Lightweight Champ; Dethrones Carter

LOS ANGELES, May 15 (UP) —Soft-spoken Jimmy Carter vowed today "it will be a different story" when he meets roughhouse little Lauro Salas, who dethroned the lightweight champion in a 15-round title bout, in a rematch "within 90 days."

"I got tired," the mild mannered dark-skinned New York fighter said in the dressing room following Wednesday night's rousing bout, which had an estimated crowd of 7,700 screaming its lungs out for the last five rounds.

But the new titlist from Monterrey, Mex., said it won't be so. "I'll wheep heem again and even more so," said the strutting pint-sized ring matador. "He didn't hurt me this time. Last time he did," he added, referring to the first title match between the pair, won here by Carter. Salas' only other comment regarding the fight was about the verdict.

"I thought I should have had a unanimous decision," he smiled.

Two judges, Mushy Callahan and Joe Stone agreed, Callahan scoring 84 to 81 and Stone 83½ to 81½. Referee Frankie Van gave the bout to the former champ by a slim point 83 to 82.

Contract for Wednesday night's fight called for a rematch within 90 days either here or in New York.

Roger Leighton, one of Salas' corps of managers, said he didn't know when or where the fight would be held, but his fighter would definitely live up to the terms of the pact.

Drill Teams at 'Booster Night'

Baseball Booster Club officials have announced that the Eagles Band, the Eagles Ladies' Drill Team and the Eaglettes Drill Team will be present at "Booster Night," at Atheltic Park Tuesday.

Any 1952 Booster Club member may take one guest to the Western International League game between the Tyees and Salem Senators free of charge upon presentation of his membership card.

Valuable prizes will be given away, say club officials.

Fourth Golf Ace

L. C. Stapleton scored the fourth hole in one of his golfing career at Colwood's 148-yard seventh hole Wednesday.

Playing with Ted Brookes, Dave McDonald and Pop Morgan, Stapleton used a No. 4 wood. He had previously scored aces at Kamloops and Revelstoke.

DOC KEARNS KNOWS THE ROPES

Who's Buttering Who?

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, May 15 (AP).—The dapper figure who stood in the centre of the rooms and held his audience rapt with a flow of the purest malarkey was old Doc Kearns, perhaps the most fabulous of all the fight managers.

"This Rocky Marciano," the 69-year-old Barnum was saying, "is the hardest hitter in the game today. He hits harder than Jack Dempsey ever did. Dempsey chopped you up, but this Marciano can kill you with one belt. He's the nearest thing to Fitzsimmons as a hitter that I've seen."

There were a series of broad winks behind the old Doc's back. This, coming from the man who brought Dempsey out of the west and steered the Manassa Mauler to lasting glory, seemed to border on sacrilege. And then one recalled that the great team broke up angrily at the height of Dempsey's career. They were supposed to have shaken hands and made up a few years back.

"Ray Robinson is another great fighter," Kearns continued. "It might have been the worst mistake I ever made when I matched my boy Joey Maxim with him. Ray can do everything and I know he's going to give Joey trouble. I wouldn't have made it except that we needed the money."

After that one Kearns permitted himself a brief smile. Doc knew he wasn't fooling anyone within earshot. The boys on the fight beat know that both Doc and his champion consider Sugar Ray a soft touch. But Kearns loved it, just the same. Someone asked him why he was shilling for Marciano.

"Oh, it's always good to give a boy a boost. It all helps the fight game," he said.

Perhaps so, but it also is true that Marciano is managed by Marty Weill, the stepson of Al Weill, who is matchmaker for the International Boxing Club, which bestows all blessings. Al used to manage Marciano, himself, before be became matchmaker.

It also would be only natural if a pilot of Kearns' talents were looking beyond Maxim's coming duel with Robinson and on to another fine pay day—against, for instance, a drawing card named Marciano.

N.H.L. Conditionally Approves Barons' Bid

Must Meet Financial Requirements

TORONTO, MAY 15 (CP) Cleveland Barons' bid for a major-league berth in the National Hockey League today hinged on one stipulation: That the club arrange certain "internal finances" to meet requirements set by the board of governors of the N.H.L. by June 1.

That was the word Wednesday night as the N.H.L. brass considered the American Hockey League team's request for admittance into the league.

If the Barons meet the requirements—not disclosed—it is considered almost a certainty they will be voted into the big league at the N.H.L.'s annual meeting in Montreal June 10-11.

Cleveland Arena board of directors will meet May 24 and general manager Jim Hendy is confident they will vote the necessary monies. The matter will be studied by N.H.L. president Clarence Campbell who will report to the N.H.L. annual session.

"No announcement will be made until the annual meeting," Campbell told reporters after the hours-long closed session of the governors. He indicated, however, that if the stipulation is met, the Barons will be the seventh club in the circuit.

$50,000 BOND

The board of governors, one from each team in the league, considered the Cleveland application for hours and apparently were convinced the Barons were entitled to a major-league franchise—at a cost of $50,000—with the one financial hitch.

Campbell and Hendy told reporters these "internal finances" concerned the amount of money Cleveland could raise for a fund devoted entirely to the development and promotion of hockey in the Ohio city arena.

ALL ASPECTS STUDIED

Campbell said the governors studied all aspects of the Cleveland set-up, including the arena capacity (9,676 seating capacity with accommodation for 1,500 standing-room fans), its geographical position in relation to other N.H.L. teams, player prospects and working capital. "They were unanimous on all these points but certain internal finances were the one hitch," he said.

The Barons, with no tie-up with an N.H.L. club, is on its own for big league talent. "It will be dog eat dog and we'll be in there," Henry told reporters.

The N.H.L. schedule structure will not be upset if Cleveland is admitted. Campbell will start work today on two schedules for the 1952-53 season "on the assumption that Cleveland is both in and out."

72-GAME SCHEDULE

In any event, Campbell said, the schedule will be the same length as last season except that each team will play 72 games, 36 at home and 36 away—instead of 70 games.

PAGING MR. MAX BELL—YOU GOT A HOSS MISTER

LONDON, May 15 (CP).—Note to Max Bell, publisher and sportsman, care of the Calgary Albertan:

Better get your plane tickets ready, Mr. Bell. Your deroy horse, Indian Hemp, looks as though he may be thereabouts when they run at Epsom two weeks from Wednesday.

You'll remember that when you left here for Canada a couple of weeks ago, you'd said you'd probably be back for the derby along with a couple of Calgary pals, if things looked righ. for Indian Hemp.

Well, Indian Hemp ran his second race of the season in the Newmarket Stakes, and though he was beaten into third place, he still made a good impression.

After the race the betting boys were saying that although the form wasn't too impressive, Indian Hemp's derby price will probably be shaved from 50 to 1, the best odds now obtainable.

VIC HIGH TRACK MEET ENDS

Whan, Barrie Repeat Champs

Coming from behind in the final day, House I dominated the track events to win the 1952 interhouse track and field championship of Victoria High School Wednesday.

House IV had held a slim lead throughout the first days of the meet by picking up points in the field events, but House I came back strongly in the final day to retain the house championship they won last year.

They carried a total of 208 points to edge House IV which had 203¼ points. House II was third with 178¾ and House III trailed with 69½.

EQUALS RECORD

Ted Whan and Virginia Barrie were repeat champions. Whan winning the senior boys' championship for the second year with 29 points. Whan had five firsts and tied the old record of 53.4 for the 440 set by the late Joe Addison.

Miss Barrie totaled 16 points to retain her junior girls' crown.

Noel Boston, with 21¾ points was intermediate boys' titlist while George Robinson won the junior title with 29 points.

BOYD MOVES UP

Winner of the intermediate championship last year, Chris Boyd moved into the senior ranks this year and copped the title with 22 points.

Bev Koski won the intermediate laurels with 16 points.

SEASON OPENS SATURDAY

Tennis Club Members To Sponsor Juniors

In an effort to increase new membership, the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club will inaugurate a new sponsor system when the club begins its 1952 season Saturday.

Under the plan, senior club members will make themselves responsible for coaching new members, arranging games for them and generally making the new member feel at home within the club.

In addition to the sponsorship program, a slate of senior members will provide regular coaching classes for beginners, both junior and senior. A full grounding of tennis fundamentals will be given.

First event of the season is a hidden handicap mixed doubles tournament Sunday on the 12 grass courts.

This year the club's open championships will be held June 14-21 with the Victoria City grass championships occupying the week of July 14-21, inclusive.

The latter tournament is open to any player in the city, not merely to club members.

The 55th annual B.C. grass court championships are scheduled for August 4-9 and a high calibre of competition is expected for the classic.

The year's activities wind up with the popular club handicap tournament, Aug. 16-23.

Club members report the 12 grass courts to be in excellent shape and when grass court play is not permitted, five hard courts may be used.

Army Scores Fourth Win

Army made it four in a row without a loss Wednesday night when they tripped Esquimalt A.A. 5-2 in a senior B men's softball game at Central Park.

The first five batters in the first inning hit safely, Doug Boettcher's home run being the biggest blow, as Army picked up four runs. Boettcher scored the fifth Army run on Turner's single. Nelson batted in both Esquimalt runs with a fourth inning single.

MAJOR TOURNEYS WEST OF GREAT LAKES

West Beckons Canada's Golfers

(By The Canadian Press)

Golfers in Canada will have to go west this year for fame and fortune.

A Canadian Press survey shows all the major Canadian golf tournaments scheduled for points west of the Great Lakes.

Beginning in Winnipeg with the Canadian open championship July 16-19, the "big time" moves westward to Edmonton for the Canadian Ladies' open and close tournaments Aug. 7-17, and concludes in Vancouver Aug. 25-30 with the Canadian amateur championship.

Jim Ferrier, Australian-born Californian, will be trying for his third straight open triumph and top money of $2,500 in the $15,000 scramble at Winnipeg's St. Charles Country Club. Among his competitors there likely will be Jack Burke, the Texan who was an early-tournament leader in last year's open at Toronto's Mississaugua Club and leading money winner in the United States winter circuit last year.

Marlene Stewart, the ex-caddie from Fonthill, Ont., who at 17 won both Canadian Ladies' titles last year at Laval-Sur-Le-Lac, Que., will be out to repeat when the women golfers meet in Edmonton.

At Vancouver's Capilano Club, the amateurs will vie for the championship won last year in Ottawa by Vancouver's Walter McElroy.

The Canadian junior championship will be held at the Capilano Club Aug. 23. Laurie Roland of Vancouver beat Doug Silverberg, defending champion from Red Deer, Alta., by one stroke to win the match last year in Ottawa.

Also Aug. 23 at the Capilano, Ontario will defend its interprovincial team golf championship for the second year in a row. Sharp-shooting Nick Weslock of Windsor, Ont., led his team to its 26th Willingdon Cup victory last year in Ottawa.

The Canadian Professional Golfers' Association will decide next Monday in Montreal when its championship will be held. The date likely will be in July and the course in Winnipeg.

Vancouver launched its tournament season — probably as early as any city in the country—May 4, when Hugh Morrison, Victoria amateur, defeated Vancouver professional Fred Wood 2 and 1 in the $1,450 Vancouver open. And one of the last tournaments of the season will be held at Vancouver's Shaughnessy Club—the British Columbia open, Oct. 2.

In the interval, New Westminster will hold its amateur contest June 1; B.C. seniors will play June 3 at Vancouver's Point Grey Club; July 27 the closed provincial amateur tournament will be held in New Westminster; a day later at Vancouver's Marine Drive Club, the provincial amateur will be held, and the province's Willingdon Cup trials will be held at the Capilano Club Aug. 9.

Alberta's Willingdon Cup team will be selected during the Alberta amateur championship July 23-27 at Edmonton's Highlands Club. Bill Tait of Calgary is the defending champion. Doug Silverberg will defend his Alberta junior championship June 14 at Edmonton's Riverside Club, and the $2,000 Alberta open, Bud Loftus, Edmonton, defending champion, will be played in Calgary during the Labor Day week-end.

Padres' Lead Sliced; Beavers Nip Hollywood

San Diego was still out in front in the Pacific Coast League Thursday but the Padres' lead was cut to 2½ games by Wednesday night's 5-1 loss to Los Angeles.

Oakland stayed on the Padres' heels by whipping Sacramento 8-4, while San Francisco shut out Seattle 5-0, and Portland nipped Hollywood 7-6.

San Diego pitcher grumpy Guy Fletcher fell victim to heavy hitting Max West, who knocked a homer with one aboard and also slammed a double that scored two runs.

At San Francisco "tough luck" Elmer Singleton, whose teammates had scored only three runs in his last 46 innings, finally got some support as the Seals batted him to victory over Seattle.

Hal Gregg, the P.C.L.'s top flinger, remained undefeated as he pitched Oakland to victory over Sacramento.

Portland came from behind with four runs in the eighth inning to stop Hollywood.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—Bobby Dykes, 154, Miami, stopped Nick Moran, 153, Mexico City, 8.

Battle-Scarred Boer War Flag

Imperial Boer War veterans Lionel Bengough, 74, left, and Fred James Neller, 77, both patients at Victoria Veterans' Hospital, admire flag now in possession of Ralph Leeman, centre, whose father carried it through all battles in the war with 18 other Victorians. Mr. Bengough served with the 2nd Battalion Duke of Cambridge's Own Middlesex Regiment; Mr. Neller with 41st Welsh Regiment.

BOER WAR REUNION MAY 31

'Absented-Minded Beggar' Will Make the Welkin Ring Again

Battle songs popular at the turn of the century — some unfamiliar to newer veterans—will greet men of Queen Victoria's army who served in the Boer War when they gather May 31 in the Legion's Britannia Branch hall for a giant reunion.

Songs like "Absent-Minded Beggar" (about the duke's son, cook's son, son of a belted earl) . . . "It's the Soldiers of the Queen, My Lads" . . . "For You All Know," "Tommy Atkins," "Good-Bye Dolly Gray" . . . "Old Bull and Bush," with popular First World War songs thrown in, will awaken memories of comradeship and high adventure.

The Boer War veterans, Imperial and Canadian, will be marking the 50th anniversary of the signing of the Peace of Vereeniging, May 31, 1902.

All Boer war veterans, whether members of the Canadian Legion or not, are asked to register their names, addresses and regimental numbers with the secretary of either Britannia Branch or Pro Patria Branch of the Legion.

It is hoped to get as many of the old soldiers—all in their 70's and up—as possible at the gathering. It is being arranged by committees of both the Legion and the Army, Navy and Air Force veterans.

BATTLE FLAG

Backdrop for the reunion will be the battle-scarred flag Victoria men carried into battle for their Queen 53 years ago.

The proud prize of the B.C.E.R. bus driver Ralph Leeman, 2421 Douglas, the flag was carried by his late father (Ralph William Leeman) through every campaign, as a trooper with the 5th Canadian Artillery Regiment, along with 18 fellow Victorians.

Incidentally, the Leemans can trace their history back to Victoria's early pioneer days. "My great-grandfather helped to build the stockade that was the beginning of Victoria," says Mr. Leeman.

This may be the last big-scale Boer War veterans' reunion to be held here.

The old boys who took up arms for their Queen will open their memory books this night and relive the great Paardeburg engagement, the relief of the British at the siege of Mafeking, Ladysmith, and all the other noteworthy engagements in the South African campaign.

TRAIN STRANGE FOR SOURDOUGH

WINNIPEG, May 15 (CP). —A small, spare man making his first train trip in 50 years passed through Winnipeg Wednesday night on his way to the East Coast.

Charles Morriss, 73-year-old native of Guysborough, N.S., is taking a trip home after working since 1902 in the Yukon gold fields.

The train journey was all right except "the danged thing goes too fast."

Symphony Faces Future Confidently In Spite of Loss of City's Grant

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

Despite financial problems facing the Victoria Symphony Society in the coming year, with the withdrawal of the city grant, a strong note of confidence was sounded Wednesday at the annual meeting.

In his report, summing up the 1951-52 season, J. F. K. English, the retiring president, stated that in view of the record membership, sold-out concerts and enhanced public interest generally, the future could be regarded as reasonably secure.

Ways and means of compensating for the lost civic grant would have to be considered by the new board of directors, Mr. English continued.

A financial report was presented by R. T. McKean. This revealed a total gain in revenue over last year of $3,147. The deficit for the 1951-52 season was shown as $829.24, an inconsequential amount when compared with deficits of practically all other similar organizations.

Student concerts, tickets for which were distributed through the school board office, had been very worthwhile and there had been satisfactory attendance on every occasion.

HOLDS INTEREST

Students from 45 schools had participated with S. J. Willis Junior High School well in the lead. Programs were the same as those presented at the regular concerts and Mr. English paid tribute to Hans Gruber's ability to hold the attention of the young people with interesting commentary on the various numbers.

Mrs. D. B. Roxburgh reported on the wide and considerable activity of the women's committee and noted that the sum of $1,600 had been handed over to the Symphony Society.

A revised constitution was presented by Dr. H. P. Johns and adopted by the meeting. Reports were also presented by Mrs. J. Ingram Smith, secretary, and by Mrs. S. D. Markham, Dr. R. J. Manning, Roy Murdock, Stuart Keate, Gordon Shaw and Dr. W. H. Hickman.

Balloting for the new board of directors resulted in the following being elected for two-year terms. J. Alan Baker, M. V. Chestnut, J. F. K. English, Dr. W. H. Hickman, Willard Ireland, Dr. H. P. Johns, R. T. McKean, Mrs. S. D. Markham, R. W. Purves, W. A. Stenner.

A one-year term will be served by D. C. Aitken, J. Barraclough, Charles Field, W. Gilmour, Mrs. J. D. Hunter, Mrs. Eliza Mayhew, J. C. Melville, Roy Murdock, J. H. Wade and William Erb.

Rain-Making Plan Proved Leading Scientist Says

TUCSON, Ariz., May 15 (AP)—Dr. Irving Langmuir, Nobel Prize winning scientist, says he has created a country-wide pattern of weekly rainfall by seeding clouds with silver iodide.

By creating rainfall in the southwest, Dr. Langmuir said in a copyrighted story published in the Tucson Daily Citizen Wednesday, he changed the rainfall pattern over the entire country.

The experiments had put the success of cloud-seeding beyond "valid doubt."

Dr. Langmuir said in an interview with The Citizen that the project was set up to determine the value of cloud-seeding.

"Most of the persons who doubted the worth of seeding clouds with silver iodide asked the same question: 'How do you know it wouldn't have rained anyway?'

"To dispose of that argument once and for all we set out to establish a pattern of rainfall that could be measured across the United States."

A check was started of weather bureau records for as long as they have existed. Dr. Langmuir said in all the recorded history of weather no similar pattern could be found.

Harding Sparks Oak Bay Nine

Setting their pace from Jack Harding's two-run homer in the first inning, Oak Bay defeated Eagles, 8-4, in a senior amateur exhibition baseball game at Windsor Park Wednesday night.

In exhibition games thus far Harding has picked up eight hits in nine tries, including three homers and a triple.

'Boss' Defends Insurance Plan

Anscomb Pledges Party to P.G.E. Completion to Peace River Area

From widely-distant points of the province Wednesday, leaders of the two major political parties wooed voters with words. Premier Byron Johnson at Nelson made a general defense of private enterprise while at Kamloops, Herbert Anscomb, Progressive Conservative leader, pledged his party to complete the Pacific Great Eastern Railway through to the Peace River district.

At Nelson the premier who was speaking on behalf of Walter Hendricks, M.L.A. for Nelson-Creston in the last legislature and standing for re-election, said British Columbia must elect a stable administration if private enterprise is to continue to develop B.C.'s natural resources.

Private enterprise was investing a billion dollars in the province, the premier stated. Industrial developments of the last three years had occurred because of confidence in a stable government. They had led to the tremendous increase in the population of the province with thousands of jobs being opened up.

Under the forest management license policy, pulp and paper mills were turning out many products from wood unfit for timber and hundreds of men were employed in plants and woods.

Compulsion Needed for B.C.H.I.S.

He defended the B.C. hospital insurance plan and said it was achieving its purpose, to finance the hospitals and to give security to the people against large hospital bills. He gave examples of hospital bills ranging in the thousands of dollars which had been paid for by the government. Recovery of patients was assisted because they did not have the ordeal of facing these bills. The plan would work properly only if compulsory.

At a meeting in Kamloops which marked the 2,000-mile point in his campaign through interior B.C., Mr. Anscomb said that "as a Conservative premier started the P.G.E. I can tell you that a Conservative premier is going to finish it."

Speaking on behalf of Conservative candidate George H. Greer, Mr. Anscomb told his audience that it was Sir Richard McBride who, 40 years ago, started the P.G.E. through almost uncharted territory into virtually uninhabited territory.

Mr. Anscomb said the railway must be built soon to Dawson Creek or some other Peace River point or the resources of the region will continue a drift toward Edmonton instead of the coast.

He said a vacillating policy now being carried out was just the sort of thing which gets us nowhere."

Mr. Anscomb said a proposal to build a road from north Vancouver to Squamish was "childish" and would cost $3,000,000 better applied to the cost of the railway itself.

Oak Bay Prep Track Meet Ends Today

With three finals to be completed, House Three held a six-point lead over House Two in the annual Oak Bay High School inter-house sports, 49 points to 42.

Naked Jap Holdouts Captured in Saipan

GUAM, May 15 (AP).—Constables Wednesday captured two naked Japanese in their eagle's nest hideout of Saipan in the western Pacific. They had lived there since American troops captured the island eight years ago.

The two Japanese, Toshiji Kamigawara and Toshiyoshi Ide, said they were soldiers in the crack Red Circle Division which vainly defended the big Marianas Island, north of Guam, during the 1944 invasion.

Hedges said the Japanese caught rats for food and ate dried land snails. Neither was in good health. They were taken to the Saipan hospital for observation.

Inside the nest the patrol found rat traps, a small magneto for lighting fires, two large bottles of salt from sea water, sugar made from sugar cane, a stove made out of a gallon tin, toothpicks made from fish bones, cooking pans, a tooth brush and tubes of toothpaste and shaving cream.

Clair Watts (right), commodore of Capital City Yacht Club, wields the springtime paint brush on the deck of his cruiser Claimarloje in preparation for opening of the club's season May 24. Kibitzers are Len McKenzie (centre), owner of Thetis, and Roy Gurton, a summer visitor from England, who will crew for Mr. McKenzie this season.

Power Boat Fleet Readies for Summer Season

More than 100 power boats in Capital City Yacht Club's fleet will be ready for action May 24, for the opening cruise to Genoa Bay and a line-ahead sail-past the commodore's cruiser. A few of them are pictured here at their moorings in Canoe Cove, land-locked harbor ideally located for cruises up and down the Island and to the mainland. Commodore this year is Clair Watts; vice-commodore, Glenn Smith; rear-commodore, Herm Wood, and fleet captain, Ken Oliver. It is planned to hold races and special cruises every week-end from opening day to Sept. 20, including cruises to Nanaimo, Friday Harbor and Bellingham.

Woman's place may be in the home—but not when advice is needed while her husband is readying his cruiser for summer sailing. Mrs. Owen Fowler watches critically while Mr. Fowler rigs a lifebelt on his Capital City Yacht Club craft Dulowna. The Boston Bull is a proper seadog, and goes along on every cruise. BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

The Vancouver Sun's columnists have trigger-fast minds. They make decisions in a flash, and I envy them for it.

Jack Scott and Elmore Philpott have both decided about voting in the coming election, and have hastened to tell their readers about it.

Jack says he read an advertisement which said, in effect, "Hooray for Free Enterprise," so he's going to vote C.C.F.

Elmore says he has spent a week in Ontario, studying the liquor situation, so he's going to vote "no" to the plebiscite.

And here I am still plodding along, still trying to figure out the right thing to do, still bumbling along, undecided.

Guess I'm just not fast enough.

News photographers are lucky fellows. They have such exciting jobs.

When a fire breaks out, they are right there, clicking away amid the smoke and flame.

When there's a hold-up, you hear their flash bulbs popping above the exploding bullets.

When nothing more exciting is going on, the news photographers take glamorous pictures of glamorous Miss Padooka Corners of 1952.

Oh, it's a glamorous life, as this little vignette will prove:

Photographer enters newsroom early in morning. He is not feeling too well, having sat up with a sick hypo until very late the night before. Photog walks to desk, picks up assignment book, where jobs are listed for all photogs. He hopes to get nice, easy job today.

Looks rapidly over list. Decides against flag raising ceremony to open drive for new home for aged cats; avoids man who is 96 and has own teeth; dodges tree controversy on highway, get pictures of trees and people; and is suddenly attracted by entry "Two-headed calf—see farm editor."

Photog rushes over to farm editor, greatly excited. Photog visualizes all the extra dough he can make out of pictures of two-headed calf. Demands that farm editor hurry, lead him to this calf.

In automobile, steps on gas and heads out into country. Photog is already counting the money; plans to become official photographer to calf, like Fred Davis was to the quints.

(The curtain will drop briefly, indicating passage of one hour and 35 minutes, two detours, and a flat tire.)

Photog and farm editor arrive at farm. "Where's the calf?" he asks. "Calf's just over the hill, in the old barn, 'bout a mile away, across that field," says farmer.

Photog and farm editor set out across plowed field. Farmer's mile turns out to be nearer two.

Exhausted, photog and farm editor reach barn. Photog is tired but triumphant, and is deciding what kind of yacht to buy with all the money he'll make.

"Where's this two-headed calf?" he demands of farm editor.

"TWO-headed calf?" asks farm editor in surprise. "Who said TWO-headed calf? Not me," says the farm editor. "This is a TOW-headed calf—cutest little blondy you ever saw."

Photog smashes camera over farm editor's head and collapses, sobbing, in a convenient pig sty.

MISS MARGARET MACLAREN

Home Nursing Value Urged On Citizens

One member of every Canadian family should be trained in home nursing.

This is the desire of the St. John Ambulance Brigade, expressed by top officers of the organization's nursing division visiting here today.

Miss Margaret MacLaren, superintendent-in-chief of the nursing division, and Miss Mary Acland, R.N., chief nursing officer, both of Ottawa, are on a tour of the west.

A knowledge of home nursing can prove invaluable to anyone at any time, they said. The immediate desire in Canada for an effective civil defense organization makes it even more important.

"Some estimate there should be 25 persons trained in home nursing for every graduate nurse in the community," said Miss MacLaren.

Good intentions are not enough, they stressed. The time to act is now.

Training of qualified home nurses for civil defense work will be undertaken by the St. John Ambulance Brigade and the Red Cross, but there will be no overlapping. The brigade, in addition, will have the job of giving first-aid instruction to all persons enlisting in civil defense work.

B.C. Affluence No 'Boom' Mainwaring Tells Parley

British Columbia's "almost boom" was explained this morning to 300 United States business men at a session of the National Association of Electrical Distributors in the Empress Hotel.

The explanation was given by W. C. Mainwaring, vice-president of the B.C. Electric Railway Co. "I use the term 'almost boom' advisedly since we prefer to feel our present position has it foundation on sound business development, rather than a usual boom basis," he said.

"The industrial tempo has been building since the end of the Second World War, and it might be said that 1951 was the year in which B.C. really 'blew its top' with spectacular repercussions from Victoria to England," he added.

Mr. Mainwaring said there was no single occurrence which brought this about, other than a spectacularly sudden appreciation of the extent of our vital natural resources, with a resultant pouring in of investment capital.

He ticked off factors in B.C.'s "almost boom": Establishment of what may be soon the world's largest aluminum industry; the greatest program of pulp and paper expansion in the world; finding of oil and more natural gas; start of petroleum pipeline from Edmonton to Vancouver; start of the largest industrial construction program in the history of the west; resumption of a large shipbuilding program; formation of the nucleus of a great cellulose industry; the greatest mining development in the history of B.C.; an all-time high forestry and fisheries output; and a tremendous volume of hydro-electric expansion.

City Wardens Determined to Shut Firehall

City fire wardens today "stood pat" on closure of the Yates Street fire hall.

Following a special "in camera" session attended by Mayor Claude Harrison, City Solicitor Arthur Patton and City Manager Cecil Wyatt, Ald. Waldo Skillings, chairman, stated:

"We stand pat awaiting union action. We acted in good faith and they turned down our counter-proposal cold."

The committee received a letter from Harman, Sloan and McKenzie, representing the Victoria Local of the International Association of Fire Fighters and "noted" the contents.

The law firm advised that the union rejected a suggestion they cut their 17 per cent conciliation board wage award to 11.24 per cent.

COURT ACTION COMING

In their original letter the union's solicitors stated an application for a court order to quash council's closure order on grounds of illegality would be sought.

They did not file proceedings immediately pending result of the meeting between the mayor and solicitor.

"The next move is up to the union," Ald. Skillings said.

Following rejection of Mayor Harrison's 11.24 per cent offer Tuesday night, a union official said the city's decision was the next step.

The mayor said he might call a special council meeting to report formally on his meeting of Tuesday with the union solicitors.

'Red Mill' Seats Still Available

Some tickets still available this afternoon for the opening-night presentation of Victor Herbert's "Red Mill" by the Victoria Gilbert & Sullivan Operatic Society.

Tonight's show, the first of three evening performances, will begin at 8.15. The Royal Theatre box office will remain open until show time.

Proceeds of the production will go toward services for Victoria's blind.

ARTUR RUBENSTEIN

BRIGHT SEASON

City to See World-Famed Stage Stars

Six of the greatest attractions in the concert world have been signed by Famous Artists Limited for their 1952-53 season here.

The list begins with pianist Artur Rubenstein, and includes contralto Marian Anderson, tenor Jan Peerce, violinist Patricia Travers, the First Operatic Symphonette and Ana Maria's Spanish Ballet Company.

Season tickets go on sale May 26 at Fletcher's box office and locations at the Royal Theatre now reserved by this year's subscribers will be held for two weeks. In addition to the group of artists listed, series subscribers will also have first choice of seats for any additional attractions which may be presented during the season.

Patricia Travers, now ranked as one of the continent's top violinists, returns to North America this season after tremendous sucesses in London, Paris, Denmark, Sweden and Holland.

The First Operatic Symphonette is something completely new in the concert field.

It is touring America for the first time with a company of 20 musicians, four vocal soloists and conducted by Vladimir Bakaleinikoff.

Island Rail Hearing Set

Ratepayers' Group Successful in E. & N. Passenger Service Effort

Board of Transport Commissioners will open sittings at the Court House here June 2, at 10 a.m., to hear the application of the Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association for an order directing the E. & N. Railway to increase its service on Vancouver Island.

Word of the scheduled hearing was received today in Cobble Hill by George E. Bonner, president of the ratepayers' association who has labored for years to have the railway service extended.

The order applied for by the association will direct the railway to increase its service between Victoria and Port Alberni and Victoria and Courtenay, to re-locate the passenger terminal in Nanaimo at the new C.P.R. dock, to improve the right-of-way to the standard of modern passenger travel, and to extend the line from Courtenay to Campbell River and Duncan Bay.

Mr. Bonner said the association will prepare a submission for the board hearing, and will likely present it himself.

The announcement is a personal victory for Mr. Bonner, who has written countless telegrams and letters in a determined effort to have the railway service improved, and who has led the drive of the Vancouver Island Ratepayers' Association in the last year.

He knows the E. & N. charter almost by heart, and claims that many points asked for are contained in the charter itself.

$500,000 Cost For Navy Base Full Security

Vital Points Now Fully Protected

Full security measure at naval establishments here would cost $500,000 and constant employment of from 150 to 250 men, Capt. L. L. Atwood, chief of staff, Pacific Command, said today. He was commenting on a morning paper report that the dockyard was open to potential saboteurs.

"The taxpayers would never stand for it," he said.

"As a matter of fact we'd like to have the establishments open to the public," he added. "We might risk a little theft, but I can guarantee that the vital points in the area are protected, and always have been."

Every time a ship comes to port 2,000 to 5,000 people pour through the gates, he said, and since the perimeter of the establishment is water, then it is possible for anyone to reach the stations in a rowboat.

"After all," Capt. Atwood pointed out, "security is within the person, and is everybody's business. Our own personnel, from O.D.'s on up, is pretty security-conscious, and there are very few leaks."

City Court Short For Introduction Of New Prosecutor

Victoria's new city prosecutor, 33-year-old Alan E. Bigelow, got off to a quick start in police court today in one of the shortest court sessions in weeks.

Three men were fined $10 each on drunk charges and two youths were fined $10 each for committing a public nuisance.

Women Fill Theatre to Learn Cooking Arts

Can Canadian women cook? Bruce Hutchison says "No" in his Page 4 column today—but these Victoria ladies seem determined to prove otherwise. If they can't cook now, they hope to learn. They are pictured lined up outside the Odeon Theatre this morning, where they filled the house to attend Woodward Stores' May Cooking Parade. Fifteen hundred women jammed into the theatre to receive cooking tips, participate in a free draw and donate to the Queen Alexandra Solarium. Members of the Solarium Junior League took a collection, and expenses were borne by Woodward's. (Times photo.)

POLITICAL NOTES

Old Parties Still Team Behind Free Enterprise

MEETING AT 8 P.M.

Mrs. Violet Rayment will speak in support of Frank Mitchell, Esquimalt candidate, at East Sooke Community Hall.

Colin Cameron, W. B. Caird and May Campbell, city C.C.F. candidates, will speak at Burnside School.

Frank Snowsell, Saanich candidate, will be supported by E. E. Winch of Burnaby at a Deep Cove meeting.

Robert Fort, Esquimalt Progressive Conservative candidate, will speak at Port Renfrew. Jack Luckhurst, Port Alberni, also will speak.

By GORDON FORBES

Liberals and Progressive Conservatives are still working together—for free enterprise, at least.

Last week Attorney-General Gordon Wismer advised Liberals to mark their No. 2 choice for the P.C.'s.

Now, Alan McDonell, P.C. candidate in Vancouver Centre, has told P.C.'s to mark their second choices for the Liberals.

"I don't like the Liberals and I don't like their politics, but they are perhaps somewhat better than the others," he said.

* * *

Social Crediters tonight will nominate a candidate in Cowichan-Newcastle, and do the same in Alberni Saturday.

* * *

Mrs. Nancy Hodges, Liberal candidate in Victoria, will travel to Port Alberni Saturday to support candidate James Mowatt.

* * *

Liberals were the first to complete their slate of candidates. They have one in every riding. Tories have completed their nominations, naming a candidate in every riding except Fernie. Social Credit have 35 candidates ready for the fray.

* * *

C.C.F. leader Harold Winch admitted this week a deterrent was necessary under hospital insurance to keep people from going to hospital for a rest. But, he said, that deterrent doesn't have to be co-insurance.

* * *

Saanich C.C.F.ers are taking encouragement in candidate Frank Snowsell's new Colquitz phone number which has a ring of "dit, dit, dit, dah"—V for victory say his supporters.

* * *

Burnaby-Richmond Independent Liberals have decided to support the Social Credit candidate in the riding. They said nomination of an Independent Liberal candidate would only "create more confusion".

* * *

Liberals and P.C.'s are making a big play for the women's vote.

Premier Byron Johnson has been telling audiences how Liberals gave them the vote back in 1916, and have since named women to high offices.

Tory leader Herbert Anscomb boasts that his party has four women candidates in the field.

Centuries Old Fir Giants Would Fall in Sooke Program

By BRIAN TOBIN

Douglas fir giants 400 years old and up to seven feet in diameter drew awed comment from Greater Victoria Water Board members Wednesday as they inspected the stand of timber proposed for logging operations on the Sooke Lake watershed.

The visitors were driven to the lake and transported by launch to the Rithet Creek valley, where Water Board engineers have mapped out a revenue-producing project.

"These trees are mature, many of them over-mature," Donald Smith, chief forester, explained as the party examined the stand. "There will be little further growth. From now on they can only deteriorate."

The logging plan provides for annual cutting of half a dozen blocks of 25 acres each for the next 25 years. This system, known as patch logging, leaves sufficient trees surrounding the logged patches to ensure natural reseeding of the denuded areas.

Revenue from the operations, estimated at $90,000 a year, board engineers explained, could be used for further development of the watershed, fire protection and pipelines.

Loss of valuable timber through aging was seen in one section where over-mature trees were being toppled by wind or attacked by rot.

The visitors were luncheon guests of Newton Cameron at the Sooke Lake Lumber Company cookhouse and later inspected the company's mill and operations along Leech River.

Various stops were made in a tour of the Goldstream watershed property of the board, to study natural reforestation and a small hand-planted area. Members noted the progress made in removing tall snags left standing after fires many years ago. These are cut under board supervision to reduce the fire hazard and the danger of windfalls to new growth.

Chief Commissioner Ronald Upward described how the growing demand for water will eventually require raising of the Sooke Lake reservoir by 15 feet and construction of a five-mile tunnel to connect with the Goldstream watershed. The tunnel would by-pass 27 miles of concrete pipeline laid in 1915 and provide increased flow with reduced maintenance cost.

The party included Reeves Joseph Casey, Saanich; P. A. Gibbs, Oak Bay; A. C. Wurtele, Esquimalt; and Aldermen Waldo Skillings, Percy Surrah, James Neely, Robert Macmillan and Arthur Dowell.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Nimble Needle Can Turn Out Fine Embroidery Work

By PENNY SAVER

I've been sitting at my typewriter wondering which would be the best approach to today's shopping news.

My discovery is needlework with all the trimmings, but my problem is how to tell you about it.

Everyone knows the beauty of embroidery and needlework of all kinds, but how can you tell about the articles in a shop that specializes in something just a little better than average at no extra cost?

Here's an example!

You can buy, for $1.65, a needlepoint or petipoint kit, complete with needle and thread and all the instructions. One set that particularly took my fancy were Chinese dancers. In this type of kit you can also get a Dutch boy and girl as well as a French couple. The colorings are exquisite.

Needlepoint canvasses in this shop range in price from 15 pennies to $25. They vary in size from 4"x4" to one yard by 22 inches. Some are left for you to do completely while others have the centre design completed. The selection includes floral, scenic, animal, Jacobean, Chippendale and Queen Anne designs.

Your nimble needle can embroider cushions, chair seats, foot stools and evening bags.

People who do a lot of embroidery work will appreciate the fact that the pure linen cloths have hemstitched edges. While you can get linen cloths with a stenciled design it is not always so easy to find them with finished edges. The table cloths sell from $2.65 to $7.50. Tray cloths are about 95 pennies and tea cosies are $1.30.

With all this embroidery to be done, of course, you'll need threads. Silk, cotton and rayon threads in hundreds of shades are priced from 4 pennies to 15 cents.

For the knitting enthusiasts there is wool direct from English mills. Three-ply is 35 cents an ounce and four-ply is 35 cents. It is all guaranteed 100 per cent pure wool.

Why not drop into this shop and browse around? You'll have a wonderful time.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Extra Pounds Add Years; Be Slimmer—Be Younger

Here we are at the midpoint of my nine-day reducing diet, which I offer to my readers each spring. Already many of them are finding that their clothes feel looser.

Have you ever tried to analyze the factors which make someone you know look older than he or she did years ago? Have you looked at a picture of yourself taken 15 or 20 years ago? What are the changes which make the difference?

Unhesitatingly I would say that first on the list is increased weight. This gives you a matronly figure and clouds the clear facial contour of youth. It makes the face look heavy, the jowels thicker and often provides a double chin.

Next I would say "posture and awkward motion." Gravity has put in its licks on most people. Instead of the straight back of youth we find rounding shoulders, dowager's humps, heads that protrude and relaxed abdominal muscles. Those who have not exercised or who carry about excess fat seldom move with grace.

Well, you can lose 10 pounds if you want to, and within the next few days!

Here are tomorrow's menus.

FOURTH DAY

BREAKFAST—One egg, one thin dry slice of whole wheat toast, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Fresh fruit salad, two tablespoons cottage cheese, one glass skimmed milk, one thin dry slice of whole wheat toast.

DINNER—Baked fish, medium portion; one-half cup cabbage, lightly cooked; one-half cup spinach or greens, one orange.

I am offering my nine-day reducing diet this week. If you would like to have this small convenient booklet, send 10 cents with a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper. This booklet also has a height and weight chart.

Tomorrow: "Girl With Large Bust May Be Self-Conscious."

Wrap-and-Tie!

Tie it on and away you go! This is that happy wrap-dress you love. Wear it about the house, sure. But also wear it out to market. A cinch to sew, a breeze for coolness, a snap to keep clean—it opens out flat to iron!

Pattern 4773: Misses' sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20; 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, 42. Size 16 takes 4¾ yards 35-inch fabric.

This pattern, easy to use, simple to sew, is tested for fit. Has complete illustrated instructions.

Send 35 cents in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this pattern. Print plainly size, name, address, style number.

Send order to Anne Adams, care of the Times, Pattern Dept., 60 Front Street W., Toronto 1-A, Ont.

Tiny Prematures Risk Blindness

WINNIPEG (CP) — A new cause of blindness, an offshoot of modern medical facilities, is striking human beings, says Lt.-Col. E. A. Baker of Toronto.

Addressing a service club, the managing director of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind said the blindness has been found in infants born more than two months, premature and weighing less than three pounds.

Though advanced medical facilities such as incubators now make it possible for premature babies to live, many are becoming blind because their eyes haven't developed properly, he said.

The new blindness was an increasing problem but no cure had been found for it.

The colonel said there now are about 19,000 blind persons in Canada. He, himself, lost his sight in the First World War and was one of the original institute founders.

Clean your electric mixer before you put it away by using a cloth wrung out of warm soapsuds to wash off the housing and stand. Rinse the same way and wipe dry with a soft cloth.

Return to More Home Cooking Is Urged By Outstanding Dietician

WINNIPEG (CP).—A cooking expert claims the average Canadian housewife does not use her ingenuity when cooking meals.

Miss Elaine Collett of Toronto doesn't claim that women should revert to the old-fashioned homemaker type, bending over the kitchen stove all day. But she claims that there is not enough use made of labor-saving equipment now on the market to produce enough home cooking to serve at the family table.

Too many prepared foods are served. There are too many meals "purchased at the corner delicatessen store."

Miss Collett also wants to cure Canadian women of serving the "eternal sandwich" to guests who arrive unexpectedly, and of making "the same old cakes" every time there's baking done.

The problem, she says, is lack of time, leading to lack of interest in what has to be prepared in the kitchen.

Miss Collett claims modern children contribute to their mothers' lack of interest.

They rush in at lunch time for a sandwich, then rush out again to play marbles or baseball.

Lunch time never used to be like that, she says.

Miss Collett's ideas for raising the standard of home meals include preparing food in bulk ahead of the time when it will be needed and storing it in the freezing cabinet of the refrigerator.

Then there is a list of quick recipes and "stretcher" dishes for those who have to prepare meals day by day. The "stretchers" cut the cost of meals by making meat go further.

TODAY'S RECIPE

MAY SALAD

One lb. fresh peas, 3 carrots, 1 cucumber, lettuce cups.

Dressing: ½ cup vinegar, 2 tbsps. sugar, 1 tsp. salt, ½ tsp. dry mustard, ¼ cup salad oil, 1 tsp. onion juice.

Cook peas until just tender. Shred carrots and dice cucumbers. Toss together with dressing and serve in lettuce cups. To make dressing combine vinegar, sugar, salt and mustard. Heat to boiling and cook one minute. Cool. Stir in oil and onion juice. Serves six.

Annual Banquet—Belmont C.G.I.T. will hold their annual parent and daughter banquet Tuesday at 6 in Belmont hall. Guests of honor will be Mrs. G. Kinney, president of Women's Missionary Society; Mrs. L. Mark, president of Senior Woman's Auxiliary; Mrs. H. Anderson, president of Junior Woman's Auxiliary; Eva Ransom, pianist, and Bernice Apps and Babe Hodgins, leaders.

Auxiliary Gives Money for Milk

Money to supply milk for a needy family was voted to be given Miss L. Staghall, social service department, Royal Jubilee Hospital, at a meeting of the junior auxiliary to the hospital, held recently. Mrs. H. Webster was in the chair.

Mrs. Walter Fletcher reported seven home visits made and gifts of flowers, magazines and chocolate given.

The Thrift Shop was in need of an old-fashioned flat-iron, a man-sized suit, size 42, a lady's walking stick and a doll pram, it was announced by Mrs. C. L. Aylard.

So don't moan about the lost beauty of expensive appliances—just ask for guaranteed Frigen Enamel at your paint dealer's.

There Are At Least Thirteen good reasons why the big "13-ounce" bottle of HEINZ TOMATO KETCHUP is your "best buy". Just compare it with the 11-ounce bottle of some brands—and see how little extra you pay for Heinz quality. For Heinz Tomato Ketchup is a tantalizing blend of rich, vine-ripened "Aristocrat" tomatoes, fragrant spices and the vinegar that has made Heinz pickles famous. It's sweetened with pure, granulated sugar . . . and vapour-vacuum-sealed for freshness. Those are just a few of the good reasons why Heinz Ketchup is such a flavour-value. Tasting it will give you the most convincing "reason" of all . . . so I'd suggest you do!

Don't Miss This Special Offer—it's for a limited time only! One cake of wonderful WOODBURY FACIAL SOAP for 1c only when you buy three cakes at the regular price. It's your chance to discover what the new beauty-cream ingredient in Woodbury can do for your complexion. Different from any other toilet soap, Woodbury is made with a beauty-cream ingredient—a softening oil used in finest face creams. It's intended to help replace natural oils you wash away. If you're like me, you've found most soaps drying to your skin . . . but Woodbury actually smooths it. You'll love its rich, gentle lather—its delicate fragrance, too. Stock up now while this 1c sale lasts!

"Beauty Is As Beauty Does," grandma used to say. Well here's a brand new fabric for your home that looks and acts just beautifully. It's DOMOLITE, that famous vinylite plastic fabric that's so easy to sew. You can make dressing-table covers, kitchen curtains and drapes that need no hemming—for Domolite won't fray. And it's so easy to clean with a damp cloth—needs no ironing. It wears and wears—repels moisture, oil and dirt. Inexpensive, too! Ask for Domolite (made by Dominion Oilcloth and Linoleum Company) at department or variety stores everywhere. And write to me—Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q.—for free, illustrated literature on what you can make with Domolite.

Zzipp!! . . . and they're on or off with the greatest of ease. LIGHTNING SLIDE FASTENERS are such a good idea for summer slipcovers. Slipcovers come off in a jiffy for cleaning or washing — Lightning zippers are rustproof and wash perfectly—then, zip them on again just as quickly and as smooth as you please. And with Lightning's exclusive automatic lock to hold them snug, covers fit like upholstery. On your pillows or covers, use Lightning—there is no locking pin to stab or snag, and they can never wriggle open or creep up, even though sewn in upside down, as you must for chesterfield and chairs. Be sure to ask for Lightning Style 804 for all your cushions and slipcovers!

My Eyes Popped when I saw the new BLUE BONNET DE LUXE MARGARINE. My favourite margarine—pre-cut in individually wrapped, golden-yellow quarter pounds. So convenient!—Blue Bonnet De Luxe quarters go right on the dish—look right at the table . . . no scooping, no slicing—just unwrap what you need. There's real flavour-protection—each quarter separately wrapped to seal in the country-sweet Blue Bonnet flavour. And you can forget the measuring cup when you're cooking with De Luxe Blue Bonnet. The handy chart on the package shows exactly where to cut. Ask for Blue Bonnet De Luxe Margarine—and get all these "De Luxe" advantages—and Blue Bonnet "De Luxe" quality, too!

Don't Let A Lovely Spring Day Catch You With The "Blues". Chase them away with a glass of sparkling SAL HEPATICA before breakfast. And you'll agree—Sal Hepatica effervescent salts are pleasant to take—gentle as can be. When hubby or son isn't feeling "just right" either, suggest they try Sal Hepatica—it's been a faithful family laxative for over 60 years. Another beauty about Sal Hepatica is that you can use it safely merely as a refresher in the morning—or at night when your system feels the need of a more thorough remedy. So next time you're shopping—ask for a bottle of Sal Hepatica and send the box top or label, with your name and address, to me—Barbara Brent, Dept. Women Score Magazines For Use of Liquor Displays

PORTAGE LA PRAIRIE, Man., May 15 (CP).—Three Canadian magazines were criticized here recently at a meeting of the Manitoba Provincial Council of Women for publishing in Montreal to evade Ontario's ban on liquor advertising.

The criticism was leveled at Canadian Geographic, Toronto Saturday Night and New Liberty magazines by Beatrice Brigden of Winnipeg, a member of the Manitoba Institute for Alcohol Education.

She said she checked a spring issue of Canadian Geographic and found 15 of the 16 advertisements were for liquor. This was serious since the magazine went into schools.

"While we accept the principle of advertising, are we quite willing that 15 out of 16 advertisements in any magazine should be for liquor," Miss Brigden said.

Liquor interests also were using athletes and prominent Canadians to endorse ads. Many were heroes of school children.

In a resolution, delegates asked the provincial government to instruct the liquor commission that definite proof of age be mandatory before a youth can obtain a liquor permit.

Another resolution asked amendment of the Amusement Act to require the censor board to eliminate "much of the persistent, needless and inexcusable intrusion of drinking shown on the screen in this province" and appointment of women to the liquor control board.

A Season's Tea

To Assist at Doll Show Opening

Miss Pat Jones, member of Solarium Junior League, will assist the president, Miss M. Hinksman, to welcome guests at opening of the Ravca doll show, in the Douglas Room, Hudson's Bay Company, on Saturday morning at 9.15. Mayor Claude Harrison will open the show, which includes more than 3,000 dolls, life-like and all different, representing every country in the world, arranged in 56 different groupings and a score of extra scenes. Proceeds from the show, which continues for a week here, will be used for work of the league at the Queen Alexandra Solarium. Parliament Buildings in the background of the picture is symbolic of the province in which members of the league carry on their work for crippled children.

Princess Is Again Health Minister in Nehru Cabinet

NEW DELHI, May 15 (Reuters).—A slight, gentle princess who cuts her hair in a short bob and loves the game of cricket has again taken on one of the world's toughest jobs—health minister in the Indian government.

Prime Minister Nehru announced in New Delhi on Tuesday that the Rajkumari (Princess) Amrit Kaur, 65, is once more the only woman member of his new cabinet, formed after the recent general elections.

As health minister she will continue to lead the fight against ignorance and disease in a country where there are too few doctors and nurses and too little medical equipment.

That would be a formidable task for anyone. But Amrit Kaur, only daughter of the late Raja Singh of Kapurthula, faces it with a serene confidence.

Fifty years ago, after a polished schooling at the Sherborne School for Girls in England, she was the typical young society woman — fashionably dressed, a magnificent horsewoman and a crack tennis player.

Then she met Mohandas K. Gandhi. Helping the poverty-stricken peasants became a whole-time crusade.

She became one of Gandhi's secretaries.

Name to Mean Much at Salt Spring Party

Attention, all "Elizabeths" and "Philips!" On June 8, there is special reason to be proud of your name!

If your name is Elizabeth or Philip, you will be admitted free to a large-scale "birthday party" to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Acland, Salt Spring Island.

Sponsored by the ladies' auxiliary to the Salt Spring Island Branch, Canadian Legion, the party will feature home cooking, white elephant, oyster bar, local entertainment and a huge birthday cake!

Col. Lewis, president, Central Vancouver Island Zone Council, Canadian Legion, will open the affair and crown the queen and prince. The S. J. Willis school band will be present to add a musical touch.

CLUB WOMEN'S NEWS

Food Parcels—At Esquimalt Chapter, I.O.D.E. meeting, food parcels were prepared to send overseas. A screen was donated to the Sunshine Camp; 24 vases were filled with flowers for Veterans' Hospital during the month; $6 was donated to the film fund. Further plans were made for a June garden party at the home of Mrs. L. Stelck.

Spring Tea—Woman's Auxiliary to St. Stephen's Church, South Saanich, held a successful spring tea recently in parish hall which was decorated with spring flowers. Mrs. H. H. Harper was convener and Mrs. H. Hughes, president, introduced Mrs. R. A. Lawrie, who opened the affair. Those assisting at stalls were Mrs. L. Littlewood and Miss H. Butterfield, aprons, novelties and toys; Mrs. A. G. Bannerman, books; Mesdames H. R. Gale, E. R. Gibson and S. Scott-Moncrieff, home cooking; Mrs. E. King, raffles; and Mrs. R. Jones, tickets. Mrs. E. H. Lee and Mrs. Hughes welcomed guests.

MOTHERS MUST LEAD

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., May 15 (CP).—It is the responsibility of women, particularly mothers, to set the stage for Christian family life by training, example and prayer, Mrs. J. L. Halpenny of Toronto said Tuesday.

President of the Dominion Woman's Association Council of the United Church of Canada, she spoke at the opening session of the 12th annual meeting here.

Delegates representing 188,344 members across Canada, are meeting out of Toronto for the first time. The sessions closed today.

Layette, Food Sent To England

A complete layette was sent to England during the month, it was reported by Mrs. B. Impey at meeting of Ladies' Auxiliary, Britannia Branch No. 7, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., and more small baby garments are needed. A parcel was also sent overseas.

Mrs. G. Ree presided and welcomed two visitors, Mrs. A. Gillett, Middlesex, Eng., and Mrs. May Hindle, past president, Branch No. 234, Guelph, Ont. One new member, Mrs. Z. M. Slack, was initiated.

Mrs. A. C. Craib visited 338 veteran patients in hospitals in the month, and Mrs. E. Wilson, 17 shut-ins in her home visiting. The auxiliary special event program includes a Stanley party in the auditorium, Thursday at 8; social in the auditorium, May 22 at 8; whist card game at home of Mrs. G. Ree, 179 Bushby Street, May 27 at 7.30, and a strawberry tea on June 20, in the Douglas Room at Hudson's Bay Company store.

V.O.N. Raises Fees for Calls

Question of costs was discussed fully at the regular meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses board, and it was decided to raise the fees from $1.50 to $1.75 with night visits at $2, effective May 15.

A sliding scale is still in effect for those unable to pay the full charge.

Mrs. Dudley Markham presided and it was pointed out that money was lost last year as the fee charged failed to meet rising costs.

Miss Marjorie Baird, superintendent, reported that 252 cases were treated and 1,754 visits made in April. Nurses lost 20 days from sickness during the month. Miss Baird expressed thanks to the junior board for dressings made and the donation of a bronze sign for the office.

Mrs. A. T. Reynolds, president of the junior board, reported plans for the children's fair to be held on May 31. Mrs. A. C. Gillespie spoke on parent craft classes and Col. R. W. Braide read correspondence from the national office on the work of the commission now traveling across Canada.

E. C. Lewis reported for the car committee and advised that old cars be turned in. The V.O.N. will use six instead of seven cars during the summer.

KEEL-LAYING IN JUNE FOR ATOMIC SUBMARINE

WASHINGTON, May 15 (AP).—The keel of the first United States atomic-powered submarine will be laid next month.

The navy said the work on the history-making vessel will be done at the electric boat company plant at Groton, Conn. The actual starting date will be made known soon, the announcement said.

The atomic sub is to be named "Nautilus" after the fictional craft described by Jules Verne in 1869 in the novel, "Twenty-Thousand Leagues Under the Sea."

The Nautilus will be powered by a thermal reactor plant designed by the Argonne National Atomic Laboratory and the Westinghouse Electric Corporation.

CLARK REPUDIATES PACT WITH P.O.W.'S

Agreement for Release of Koje Island Camp Commandant Made Under Conditions of Duress

TOKYO, May 15 (AP)—Gen. Mark W. Clark today repudiated the much-criticized "Colson agreement" with Red prisoners of war on Koje Island. "It has no validity whatsover," Clark said.

The United Nations commander said Brig.-Gen. Charles Colson, temporary prison camp commander, since removed, had no authority to "accept any of the vicious and false charges" made by the Reds.

Colson signed the statement to win the release of Brig.-Gen. Francis T. Dodd, former prison camp commander. North Korean prisoners held Dodd hostage 78 hours last week. Communists now are using the agreement for propaganda in truce negotiations.

Gen. Clark announced today:

"The exchange of communications between Brig.-Gen. Colson and inmates of compound 76 who were holding Brig.-Gen. Dodd by force and violence has no validity whatsoever.

"The circumstances under which these exchanges took place from the very beginning were those of duress involving the physical threat to the life of a U.N. officer. Investigation made so far indicates that this affair was carefully prepared to manufacture propaganda for the purpose of beclouding the whole prisoner-of-war issue at Panmunjom (truce) negotiations.

"General Colson's authority to deal with the prisoners in compound 76 did not extend to authority for him to purport to accept any of the vicious and false charges upon which the Communist demands were based."

Statements which drew particular censure, and which North Korean Gen. Nam Il seized upon for new verbal attacks on the Allies in Panmunjom truce talks, were:

"Many prisoners of war have been killed or wounded by United Nations forces." Prisoners "can expect humane treatment in the future." "There will be no more forcible screening."

RIOTS BLAMED

American authorities quickly stated: Prisoners have been killed only in riots instigated by the Comunist prisoners themselves; prisoners have been treated humanely; and there never has been "forcible screening" to determine whether prisoners want to go back to Red rule.

The Colson agreement also provided for prisoner committees.

Clark's repudiation was expected to have prompt repercussions in armistice negotiations and on the Communist Radio.

Colson has been returned to his old command as chief-of-staff of the First Army Corps in Korea and Dodd is back with U.S. Eighth Army headquarters.

Rebellious Koje prison camp now is under command of an old China hand, Brig.-Gen. Haydon Boatner. He relieved Colson Tuesday.

Four Crewmen Missing When Tankers Crash

WILMINGTON, Del., May 15 (AP)—Two ships collided halfway through the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal today, unleashing a series of explosions on the oil tanker F. L. Hayes. Four crew members are missing.

Five of the tanker's 10-man crew leaped into the 200-foot wide waterway and paddled ashore. Another was rescued from the water.

Flames visible for five miles engulfed the westbound Hayes soon after the collision with the steamship Barbara Lykes shortly after midnight.

At daybreak a column of black smoke rolled lazily over the Delaware countryside from the still-burning tanker. The 270-foot Hayes was carrying 700,000 gallons of high octane gasoline.

No one tried to put the fire out. Firemen were unable to get close enough to battle the flames. Mud banks and woods border the canal.

The crash occurred near Summit Bridge, Del., about 20 miles south of Wilmington and halfway across the 19-mile canal which connects the Delaware River with the upper Chesapeake Bay.

The missing men were identified as R. E. Oakes, first assistant engineer; Weyland Ellis, second assistant engineer; Ollie Landee, deckhand, and George Carter, seaman.

Roger Sears of Jackson Heights, L.I., captain of the 270-foot tanker and one of those saved, said his vessel was struck on the side by the Barbara Lykes.

Mainland Woman Traffic Victim

VANCOUVER, May 15 (CP).—A 24-year-old woman was killed Wednesday night in Surrey municipality when she was knocked into a ditch by an automobile which then landed on top of her.

Police identified the traffic victim as Mrs. Clara Stacey. They said she was walking east along the roadside when she was struck by a car travelling west.

Free Gold Mart Urged By Tories

Easing of Currency Restrictions Would Aid Country, Commons Told

OTTAWA, May 15 (CP)—Canada can make a start in lifting international monetary restrictions by setting up a trading centre for the exchange of soft currencies into gold, the Commons has been told.

Rodney Adamson (P.C.—York West) said Wednesday that move would make Canada one of the great international banking centres of the world.

Debating a resolution to extend the government's emergency gold-mining aid through 1953, Mr. Adamson, a mining expert, said his proposal would be of great use to countries with blocked currencies. If soft-currency—sterling—countries were given machinery for converting their monies into gold through a Canadian market, he said, they would have a useful standard. The productivity of the sterling area would make a market for their currencies.

Mr. Adamson said he did not claim that would overcome existing embargoes or currency restrictions, but it would be "a step along that path."

Mr. Adamson urged, too, a return to a free world market in gold to make possible better prices for the output of Canada's mines.

SUBSIDY TO MINES

Canadian gold now is bought by the government at a fixed price of $35 an ounce in United States funds, except for premium non-monetary gold. The government's assistance measure provides a subsidy to mines with high production costs on monetary gold.

The measure discussed Wednesday—a resolution to a bill to extend the assistance formula—was still under debate when the Houses adjourned until today.

Speakers generally approved of the aid bill but Progressive Conservatives particularly insisted that it was only a "stopgap" and a "palliative" and that a long-term policy on gold is needed.

Donald Fleming (P.C., Toronto-Eglinton) and Mr. Adamson declared the International Monetary Fund—which fixed gold policy for the subscribing countries—is being used as an instrument of United States fiscal policy to the detriment of the Canadian gold industry. Mr. Adamson called it a "costly failure."

MORE FREEDOM

Mr. Fleming said Canada should make clear she will not support the I.M.F. if its present policies continue. There should be more freedom on the world market for gold to find a natural price level, which would be higher than the fixed price.

Ray Thomas (S.C., Wetaskiwin) said he will support the aid bill, but he suggested gold miners might be better employed elsewhere during an "arms race."

H. W. Herridge (C.C.F., Kootenay West) said government assistance to gold mines is a recognition of the principle of subsidies, and he advocated subsidies for home construction.

E. T. Applewhaite (L., Skeena) suggested that the gold aid—now restricted to sizeable producers—be extended to help out small operators such as prospectors.

PORT RADIUM NORTHWEST TERRITORIES

THIS SAFE, together with everything from bank notes to pen nibs, was recently flown from Edmonton, 1100 miles due north to Port Radium, on the fringe of the Arctic circle. It is part of the equipment for a new branch of The Royal Bank of Canada, just opened to serve the men who work one of the world's greatest known deposits of uranium, on the shores of Great Bear Lake. This is the "farthest-north" bank in Canada.

Pioneer camps and towns are springing up in areas of Canada which a few years ago were known only to trappers and prospectors. The Royal Bank of Canada carries on business in many of these isolated communities. Whenever and wherever the need arises, the Royal Bank heads north with the men who are establishing Canada's new frontiers.

Up B.C.'s rugged coast a giant new aluminum development is taking form. Since last November we have operated a branch at Kemano, site of the power house. Three sub-branches have since been opened to serve other construction crews at isolated inland points in the area.

Up north at Churchill on Hudson Bay—at the international airports of Goose Bay (Labrador), Gander (Newfoundland) and Montreal's Dorval—the Royal Bank brings modern banking services to military and civilian personnel, and to airlines and air travellers from every corner of the globe.

MANY ANGLES TO KITIMAT DEVELOPMENT

Commons Group Given Round-Up

OTTAWA, May 15 (CP) —A C.N.R. vice - president painted an exciting picture Wednesday of the multi-sided developments that should stem from British Columbia's Kitimat aluminum project.

S. W. Fairweather told a Commons committee that Kitimat should open a new window on the Pacific through which would flow wealth to benefit all Canada.

The committee gave approval to the C.N.R.'s proposal to build a $10,000,000, 46-mile branch line into the remote northern B.C. village.

However, A. W. Whittaker, Jr., vice-president of the Aluminum Company of Canada which is backing Kitimat's huge aluminum project, said "I got hell from my boss" for accepting one phase of the company's bargain with the C.N.R. for constructing the branch line.

COMPANY GUARANTEE

That is the guarantee the company has given the C.N.R. that rail revenues for the first 10 years won't fall below a set minimum. Mr. Whittaker said his company doesn't like it but had to take it because the C.N.R. insisted.

"We're a private company spending millions on this project because we have faith in aluminum and in Canada," he said.

"I wouldn't be surprised if this branch line turns out to be one of the most profitable moves the C.N.R. has ever made. So why should the C.N.R. and the government demand a guarantee. Why haven't they got enough faith in British Columbia to do this without one? . . ."

Earlier Mr. Fairweather predicted the guarantee will never be put into effect because this one should carry itself from the start.

MANY ANGLES

These were the developments Mr. Fairweather said might happen after the project gets going in 1954:

1. A hugh now-inaccessible stand of mature timber will be more easily available when the rail line is finished. A pulp mill may be established at Kitimat; a sawmill is certain to be set up.

2. Kitimat offers a sheltered port which should cut into halibut landings at Seattle.

3. Ships bringing raw material for aluminum will be ready for cargoes to take away, offering the chance for western Canada to ship her produce into world markets.

4. Kitimat is in the coast mountain area, one of the world's richest mining areas.

Mr. Whittaker said his firm intends to build a top-notch community at Kitimat and predicted an eventual population of 50,000 people.

Baruch Blames President for Steel Crisis

WASHINGTON, May 15 (AP) —Bernard Baruch laid the blame on President Truman Wednesday for the steel crisis and many of the country's other economic pains.

The New York financier, adviser to a long list of presidents, said in a speech here that "the steel crisis is primarily the outcome of a refusal by the executive to use the powers which were granted by Congress" for quick across-the-board stabilization to meet the threat of Korea.

Truman let the economy get out of balance to the benefit of "favored pressure groups," Baruch said, and lost the opportunity to achieve stability on a base of justice to all. He said the result of a piece-meal approach to mobilization is that "you constantly chase the disruptions in an attempt to recover the equalibrium which should never have been lost."

His point was that it is just such a chase which has brought about the boiling steel crisis with its threat of a cut-off in output of the vital metal and hot fights in court and Congress over the steps the administration has taken.

Baruch spoke while the Supreme Court deliberated its decision in the suit over government seizure of the mills and Congress heard new industry demands for a curb on executive powers.

May Reduce Season For Hunting Whales

LONDON, May 15 (Reuters).—The International Whaling Commission will meet here June 3 to discuss plans for a shorter whaling season and reducing the catch limit.

Alarmed by the decreasing number of whales sighted each year, the commission hopes for agreement on conservation plans to keep them from being killed.

The present limit, set in 1946 to discourage wholesale slaughter, is 16,000 "blue whale units"—a unit being one 70-foot blue whale, two fin whales, six narwhales or 2½ humpback whales.

Canada is among the 17 countries expected to send delegates.

India Fights Locusts . . .

It took a threat of the worst locust plague of the century to achieve the near-impossible—co-operation between Russia and U.S. Both rival powers have sent aircraft and experts to Iran where 1,300,000,000 acres are infested with millions of locust eggs. The United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization reported that swarms of giant desert locusts have swept from their East African breeding place threatening the entire food supply of agricultural countries from Africa to Asia. F.A.O. fears that present swarms are now breeding and "a new generation of young locusts soon will be on hand threatening the cotton and grain of the Nile delta on one side and the rice fields of India on the other."

. . . While Canada Battles 'Skeeters'

Armed with microscopes and geiger counters, William Baldwin and Hedley James, agricultural research officers with Dominion parasite laboratory at Belleville, Ont., are staging an all-out war against man's most pesky enemy, the mosquito. By using radioactivity to determine the skeeters' natural enemies, they hope to control the insects. Thousands of mosquito larvae were collected this spring from a swamp. The larvae were treated with radioactive phosphorus and then scattered in the swamp to allow them to be eaten by predators, which in turn will become radioactive. They are then collected and their radioactivity determined by checking with a geiger counter. The idea is that the more radioactive the predators become, the more mosquitoes they have eaten. Those with the highest radioactivity will be propagated for dispersal in swamps to keep the mosquito menace in check. Hedley James and assistant Mary Wilkinson are seen above in laboratory.

Expert Heads British A-Test

LONDON, May 15 (Reuters) —A modest Briton who turned down an offer of $42,000 a year to work for the United States on atomic research will direct Britain's first atomic-weapon tests this year.

He is Dr. William Penney, chief superintendent at the Ministry of Supply.

Experts say his is one of the few top minds in the world on atom and hydrogen-bomb research. He will head the expedition which, the government announced today, will take place on the Monte Bello Islands, off northwest Australia.

Dr. Penney worked at the Los Alamos laboratories in New Mexico from 1944 to 1945 on the U.S. atom bomb. At the first Bikini atoll test he pitted his "Rube Goldberg"-like contraption to measure blast, heat and atomic rays against one designed by U.S. scientists. It is reported that the American instruments failed. His worked.

When the offer of a job with a salary five times the £3,000 Britain pays him came, Penney turned it down.

FAVORS PARTNERSHIP

As head of the British atomic project he favors full-scale atomic partnership between British and the U.S.

Last October it looked as if he was getting his way. Some congressmen were reported pressing for a fuller exchange of information between the two countries and Penney set off for Washington to make a deal.

The U.S. offered Britain her testing range, but the offer was turned down. Britain, probably with something up her own sleeve in the atomic field for the first time, decided to make her own tests in Australia.

Two British ships now are unloading equipment at Monte Bello. Three more are due this summer.

The government has refused to explain the exact nature of the tests, whether bombs or some smaller weapons will be used.

Highlanders Meet To Test Prowess On Track, Field

Saturday, July 12, will be a gala occasion for Victoria's Scots.

That will be the day of the 15th annual highland games at Macdonald Park.

Recognized as one of the most colorful annual events in the northwest, the games are certain to draw a large number of Scots from Vancouver and Seattle.

Two pipe bands will be coming from each of these two neighboring cities for the show.

Usually scheduled for the last Saturday in July, games officials have moved the date ahead this year in order to avoid conflict with navy week celebrations, scheduled for the month's end.

HOLES IN HIS HEAD — Jerry Bynum, five, of Fort Worth, Texas, has two holes in his head, but he isn't complaining. The holes were drilled in his skull to give support for a specially designed bow which is helping to correct Jerry's curvature of the spine. The unusual treatment, being given at Fort Worth Hospital, causes Jerry no pain.

Wasps sometimes damage fruit, but they also destroy large numbers of caterpillars and other harmful insects.

U.S. Removes Controls From Four Vital Metals

WASHINGTON, May 15 (AP) —The U.S. government today lifted controls from four metals and ordered relaxation, effective July 1, of its ban on the building of amusement and recreation places.

The National Production Authority also restored the use of structural steel and aluminum to new houses, as of mid-year, and eased its restraints on construction of shops, stores and office buildings.

Four metal orders—those regulating lead, antimony, cadmium and bismuth—were revoked outright. In addition, allocation and limitations on the use of zinc were lifted. This left zinc subject only to inventory control.

N.P.A. administrator Henry H. Fowler, in issuing the construction relaxations, said N.P.A. acted because the demands of defense construction will be substantially reduced during the last of this year.

Relaxation of zinc controls was based on a new estimate indicating that this year's supply of slab zinc will be about 1,079,000 tons, or 15 per cent above consumption.

Suppose you were a logger's wife...

It's never been easy . . . the job of keeping house and raising a family. It's harder still in a couple of rented rooms with your husband away for months at a time and no one to turn to for advice or decisions.

That's the lot of many loggers' wives.

But today a big change is taking place. You can see it beginning already at Terrace. Soon, it will spread to other towns and settlements bordering on the Forest License areas operated by Columbia Cellulose Company.

New homes are abuilding . . . snug comfortable dwellings where a wife can enjoy community life yet remain close to her husband's side; where schools and recreational facilities will keep pace with community growth; where family life can thrive as it should.

These new homes are permanent—a natural result of continuing high level employment brought about by big-scale tree farming on a long-term basis. We're happy about this trend. It is encouraging both to us and to the communities involved. We thought it might interest you too . . . especially if you happened to be a logger's wife.

Columbia Cellulose Company is the first unit of a rapidly expanding Canadian industrial organization. Within a few months, this organization will be combining timber from British Columbia with natural gas derivatives from Alberta to produce a wide range of fibres and other acetate products for Canadians from coast to coast. Our program of continuous forest yield ensures lasting full-time employment for thousands of Canadian workers.

Long Teatment Needed For Chronic Prostatitis

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

The prostate is a small sex gland which stores the seminal fluid. The openings into it are narrow so that it makes a particularly good place for germs to grow. Infections of this gland are usually divided into acute and chronic varieties.

Acute prostatitis is often, but by no means always, caused by a germ called the gonococcus which is the cause of gonorrhea. However, many organisms can grow in this gland and mixtures of germs are frequent. Germs can invade the prostate along the urinary passageways or can be carried there by the blood stream.

The symptoms of acute infection of the prostate may be mild or severe. The most common ones at the beginning are disturbances of urination, such as burning, frequency, and dribbling. Pain or a feeling of fullness may or may not be present.

During the acute stage absolute rest in bed and avoidance of strain, is necessary. The application of heat, alkalinizing the urine and drinking fluids freely also may be desirable.

In the past this was about all which could be done at first, but now medicines, like the sulfas and penicillin, have been found valuable in many cases.

Chronic inflammation of the prostate is an extremely common condition and like the acute variety, is sometimes, but by no means always, caused by the gonococcus. Chronic prostatitis is likely to become less common in the future as it often follows acute infection, which can now be treated with better chances of complete cure.

Chronic prostatitis often produces few if any symptoms. Some patients have only a small amount of pus. Others have urinary symptoms similar to those of the acute variety but not so severe. Local signs of prostate infection may be absent altogether, but the infection may cause difficulties elsewhere in the body such as arthritis, neuritis, muscle pain or iritis.

TREATMENT MAY BE LONG

In order to make an accurate diagnosis, the prostatic secretion has to be obtained and examined under the microscope. This will reveal the nature of the trouble and what germs are responsible.

A long-lasting chronic prostatitis is difficult to cure. Treatment includes such methods as promoting drainage, prostatic massage, heat applications and sometimes vaccines or treatment with drugs. Whatever treatment is followed, however, it may take a long time and be most discouraging. It is well, therefore, for someone with chronic prostatitis not to expect a rapid cure.

Dairyman Head Of Duncan's New Chamber

DUNCAN, May 14. — Cy R. Porter, manager of Sunny Brae Dairy Ltd., was elected president and P. H. Dunne, news-editor of the Cowichan Leader, secretary-treasurer of Duncan Chamber of Commerce at its annual meeting.

N. H. Gourlay will continue in office as vice-president, meanfime. Ten councillors were also elected and will form a new board.

Retiring president E. W. Waldie gave his report for the past year reviewing activities and thanking all outgoing officers and council for their support. Capt. Allan Hall, retiring secretary-treasurer, who has held that office for the past 10 years, was presented with a handsome set of pipes by F. G. Aldersey, who was the oldest member of the chamber present.

Professor Named To Elan's Staff

Roland de Lagerie, who has spent the year teaching in the department of modern languages at the University of Alberta, has been appointed to the teaching staff of Elan, Cowichan Bay, it was announced today by Dorothy Punderson, president.

M. de Lagerie last summer taught at the school of Practical Studies of the Alliance Francaise in Paris. During 1949-51, he was lecturer at the University of Gottingen, Germany, where he gave a course on the political and social history of France and a seminar on diplomatic history.

From the University of Paris, M. de Lagerie received his licentiate in arts and law and made post-graduate studies in philosophy and political science.

DREAMS IN 'PATTERNS'

Psychiatrists Urged To Study Differences

By FRANK CAREY

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., May 15 (AP).—Dreams come in four different packages, the American Psychiatric Association was told today.

And, said Dr. Iago Galdston, of New York, psychiatrists should pay more attention to these differences in the "structure" of dreams—as an aid in treating the mentally ill.

For many years, he said, much emphasis has rightly been placed on the "contents" of dreams—but practically no attention has been paid to the form, or stage setting, of the dream.

Saying that in the case of the mentally ill the dream structure is closely correlated with the patient's personality and the type of his mental disturbance, Dr. Galdston listed these four patterns for dreams in general:

1. The dream that has a "consistent story."

2. The dream that is presented as a "montage"—a serial form of disjointed episodes, yet staged upon a consistent background.

3. The "meandering" dream, where there is a constant shift in terrain and lots of inconsistency.

4. The "amorphous," or shapeless dream—where the characters are dim and vague and don't make much sense at all.

He said there is opportunity for utilizing these differences in diagnosing a patient's illness, and following the progress of treatment.

"Basically," he added, "each patient dreams his dreams in his own unique pattern, yet, within that pattern there is possible much variation. And the variation indicates and reflects progression or regression in the (treatment) experience of each patient."

Toronto Falls Steadily Over Wide Range

TORONTO, May 15 (CP)—Stock market prices today drifted steadily lower toward the session's close.

Industrial dealings spread slightly from leading issues but few golds, metals or oils attracted speculative interest. Bristol Oil was an exception as it traded more than 100,000 shares. However, it made little headway. Volume for the session was about 2,100,000 shares.

Papers, liquors and refining oils led industrials downward with a scattered list of fractional declines. Constructions, steels, textiles, manufacturing companies, retail stores and miscellaneous issues also slipped but banks turned upward. Foods were mixed.

Western oil losses outnumbered gains about six to one. Leading issues showed declines ranging to about 50 cents while lower-priced issues posted a broad list of penny losses.

In base metals, Fenimore Iron and Tungsten were active but showed little trend.

N.Y. Slides Into Decline

NEW YORK, May 15 (AP)—Stocks wavered uncertainly on the downside today in a quiet market. Scattered gains were largely fractional but a few went up to around a point.

Volume was estimated at 1,000,000 shares.

Down were steels, motors, rubbers, chemicals and most oils.

Railroads were mixed most of the time, but some carriers displayed good gains. Other major sections of the market were steady or mixed.

Lower were Republic Steel, General Motors, Goodyear, Gulf Oil, Dow Chemical and General Electric. Higher were Southern Pacific and Standard Oil (N.J.).

Canadian issues were lower. McIntyre dropped 1½, Canadian Pacific fell ⅜, Hiram Walker lost ¼. International Nickel and Distillers Seagrams each slipped ⅛. Dome Mines remained unchanged.

Montreal Lower

MONTREAL, May 15 (CP)—Prices drifted downward today on the stock exchange and curb market. Changes were limited to less than a point in either direction. Many issues traded at yesterday's closing rates.

Senior metals, senior oils, steels, carriers, papers and miscellaneous industrials moved downward.

Banks and Bell managed to post small gains while beverages turned mixed after an inactive morning.

Mines traded actively with changes limited to about five cents in either direction. Western oils followed the lower industrial trend with changes limited to pennies. Jet, Harman, Del Rio and Tor American weaker.

Industrial volume was 33,900 and mines 261,600.

Vancouver Slow

VANCOUVER, May 15—Noon close. Fractional gains matched losses at Vancouver exchange in early trading today in a low volume session.

Western oil interest provided most of the trading activity for the market. Continental at $2.55 was ahead 5, York at 50 was unchanged. Charter was 5 better at $2.25 and Superior was unchanged.

Mines were relatively dull. Western Uranium was 20 stronger at $4.20. Kootenay base metals at 55 was unchanged.

London Weaker

LONDON, May 15 (Reuters).—Signs of deterioration were in evidence on the stock exchange today.

Most sections failed to encounter any extension of yesterday's improved buying interest.

Gilt-edged stocks showed losses down to 3-16.

Industrials suffered minor losses, particularly in the textile department. Commodity shares were depressed, but oils met selective support.

German bonds registered fresh gains in early dealings, but came back abruptly under profit-taking.

LONDON, May 15 (AP)—Stock closings: Babcock & Wilcox 63s 7½d, Boots Pure Drug 19s 7½d, Canadian Pacific $64⅛, Central Mining £1 25/32, Consolidated Gold Fields 46s 3d, Courtaulds 34s 10½d, Hudson's Bay Co. 197s 6d, Imperial Chemical 41s 4½d, Imperial Tobacco 83s 9d, Metal Box 48s 3d, Mexican Eagle 22s 9d, Rand Mines 94s 4½d.

STALEMATE

Investors See Markets Set To Explode Again Shortly

By BURKE CAHILL, Times Business Editor

It is difference of opinion which creates a stock market. Some people feel that a certain stock will go up in price while others think it will go down.

Thus the bulls and the bears are able to do business. The former stampede to buy and the latter rush to sell. As a result, the market is the most sensitive barometer of the hopes and fears of the trading universe.

Cahill

Lately, however, the market has not been doing its job. It has been idling along at a peculiarly even pace with bids and offers almost perfectly matched, but both very scarce. So it's hard to tell how the winds of optimism and pessimism are blowing.

Recently, the top man of Northern Pacific Railroad, which has huge holdings in the famed Williston Basin oil fields, stated publicly that he was not too hopeful of further large finds there. Immediately, stocks tumbled. Shortly after, another top executive whose company held land in the same area, voiced an opposite opinion and back up surged the Williston stocks.

The recent sharp rise in the price of the more speculative oil stocks, which includes a vast majority of the issues traded, comes on the heels of a market for these issues which has been rising, with minor interruptions, over the past year.

It now looks as if the fever of speculation has carried the price of many of these stocks beyond a safe buying range. Safe, that is, for the investor. The out and out speculator must realize the degree of risk he takes and must confine his buying to that part of his funds which he is prepared to risk.

LONG TERM BUY

On the other hand, the investor with the longer term viewpoint is also interested in western oils. He can be certain that Canada's oil industry is a lusty infant, standing, possibly, where Texas stood about 20 years ago.

The immediate income on the oil stocks of the big, strong firms (who will most certainly be around, bigger than ever, when the infant industry is full grown) is small. But the longer term growth prospects are tremendous.

Accordingly, there is plenty of good, steady money going into the oil giants currently and field development is forging ahead.

In another short while, the exploration work of the giants in the oil industry will bring in new wells, the distributing organizations will develop new markets. The more speculative, less heavily financed companies will benefit too, usually from adjoining leases, and their shares will no longer be ahead of the market, too high priced.

The next step will be for the process to start all over again in the speculative stocks until, once more, as now, they are pushed to the top of the market.

So the present stalemate between buyers and sellers in the oil stocks, which produces such a curious, level tone, is pretty sure to be exploded shortly. It's a safe bet that the market is building up for more action. What do you think?

Crooked stock pushers in Canada are being squeezed tighter under stricter regulations on fraudulent use of the mails being set up by Ottawa and Washington. All the same, you still have to watch those long distance telephone "hot tips" and direct mail promotions. Check, always check with your broker or investment dealer.

Thirteen miles south of Trail, B.C., where 700 men are at work on Cominco's big Waneta Power project, engineers are ready to topple a giant pillar of concrete, 18 storeys high and 6,000 tons, across the channel of the Pend d'Orelle River. This will enable construction crews to bare the river bed, by blocking the water flow, and to erect a section of the dam.

W. H. Smith, Victoria steel erector, just got a contract from the defense department worth $26,100 for dismantling a large crane.

Another Victoria firm, New Method Laundries, has a defense order for $10,000 in cleaning services.

E. P. Taylor, the lumber, beer and manufacturing tycoon of Canada, reports that B.C. Forest Products made a profit of 31.4 cents a share for the six months ended March 31 this year. This is away below last year's 97.5 cents a share for the same period. Taylor blames higher costs, taxes and U.S. dollar exchange losses.

Harold Wincott, editor of Britain's Investors Chronicle, and writer of the famed Lex column in the London Financial Times, will be in B.C. early in June to study industrial and financial trends here.

Tests on a new process for making newsprint were pronounced successful yesterday by the Herty Foundation of Savannah, Ga., in the U.S. The process uses waste sugar cane.

W. A. Mather, C.P.R. president, stressed in his recent annual meeting address that Canadians themselves put up by far the greater part of the cash for capital investment in this country in the past six years. The U.S. contributed a sizable amount for investment here, but the U.S. share is still a minor part of the total.

The steel plant prospects for B.C. are brighter. The newly-formed Western Canada Steel, headed by a group of B.C. industrialists, is reported ready to spend $2½ million for an electric furnace, $10 million for a plant in Burnaby and an unnamed sum for a smelter at Union Bay, to treat Campbell River iron ore.

Imperial Wildcat in South Saskatchewan Yields Crude

REGINA, May 15 (CP)—It was reported here today that Imperial Oil has recovered heavy oil in drill stem tests of its Battle Creek wild cat drilling venture in the Govenlock area of southwestern Saskatchewan.

About two weeks ago, Imperial recovered natural gas at the rate of 6,500,000 cubic feet a day at a higher level in the same well.

The latest tests indicate the presence of an oil-bearing zone between eight and 10 feet thick. The limited recovery, however, does not indicate commercial possibilities due to the depth of the find.

Early reports indicated that 350 feet of gassy, heavy black oil had been recovered in a one-hour drill stem test of the interval 4,417 to 4,427 feet. In a test of the next five feet, 60 feet of oil and 750 feet of salty sulphur water were recovered.

Imperial intends to continue drilling ahead and testing in the well.

The venture, Imperial-Canada Southern-Federated Co-op Calvan Battle Creek No. 1, is located five miles north of the United States border and 24 miles east of the Alberta line.

It is being drilled on a 250,000-acre farm-out from Saskatchewan Federated Co-operatives Ltd. Other participants include Canada Southern Oils Ltd., and Calvan Consolidated Oil & Gas Co. Ltd.

INTERNATIONAL NICKEL

First Quarter earnings of $1.08 per Common share and Working Capital of over 174 millions backs our unchanged recommendation to invest in "Nickel."

Elementary or Fundamental?...

We in the investment business and the people with whom we deal refer so often to the buying and selling . . . of bonds, debentures and stocks . . . that occasionally we feel that the basic differences between bonds and stocks may be overlooked or forgotten. The relatively inexperienced, and sometimes the experienced, may have in mind that bonds and debentures as a group are safer than stocks as a group, but this may be about as far as it goes.

It may be well to recall that, when an investment is made in bonds or debentures, the buyer is, in fact, lending money for a fixed period and at a fixed rate of interest to the Government, the Municipality or the Corporation whose bonds or debentures he buys. There is a contract between the borrower and the lender whereby the borrower agrees, amongst other things, to repay a fixed amount as principal at a specified time and pay fixed amounts as interest on specified dates. THE BONDHOLDER IS A LENDER.

When an investment is made in stocks, the investor is not lending money but buying a share in a business. There is no contract to repay. The investor becomes a part owner of the business and runs all the risks inherent in owning a business. The owners are responsible for the management, pay all the expenses, look after the creditors, then share in the final result whether it be good or bad. THE STOCKHOLDER IS AN OWNER.

Elementary? . . . no . . . fundamental. For it is these fundamental differences which make certain securities and certain types of securities suitable or unsuitable for an individual's account. Investing is a personal matter, and is most successful when the investment programme is planned to fulfil the requirements of the individual. Designing personal investment programmes is part of our business. It is part of our service . . . a service available to you at any of our offices or, if more convenient, by mail.

YOUNG MEN

CHOOSING A BUSINESS CAREER...

An Active, Interesting and Well-Paid Profession

For young men of active, enquiring minds contemplating a business career, few opportunities offer greater promise than Chartered Accountancy.

Chartered Accountants see "backstage" in a wide variety of businesses and corporations. Their wide knowledge and experience make them welcome contributors to the counsels of management—their advice is invaluable in shaping the policies of most business concerns. Their professional standing in business (C.A.) compares with that of M.D. in Medicine; that of LL.B. in Law.

Because of the high standards set by the Institute, wide pre-examination study, combined with practical experience, is necessary. During this period, standards of pay compare favorably with that of training periods of other professions.

If you are young (ages 17-25), ambitious, alert, and anxious to establish yourself as a professional member of the business community, this is a profession whose rewards are well worth your careful attention and consideration. For further information, see any member of the Institute.

BRIDGE LESSON

—by Oswald Jacoby

"Who was to blame for the disaster in the accompanying hand?" asks a Cedar Rapids correspondent.

"South made his re-doubled contract with two overtricks, scoring 1510 points in all. He won the first trick with the jack of spades, entered dummy with a diamond and finessed a club to West's queen.

"West led another low spade, was put in with the ace of clubs, and cashed the two high spades. South then won the rest of the tricks: three clubs, two spades, a heart and three diamonds.

"When the play ended, West remarked bitterly that East could have made two diamonds and that any good player would have bid a five-card suit instead of passing the redouble of one no-trump with a worthless hand.

"East said that it was West's fault for making the final pass. West could have run out to two spades. In fact almost any run-out would have been better than giving 1,510 points to the opponents.

"Who was the villain of this piece?"

I would say that West was the villain, but I wouldn't pin any medals on East. He had a chance to bid a five-card suit, and the chances are that he should have done so. This isn't altogether clear-cut, however, since East is not anxious to play the hand at diamonds if his partner has a good spade suit. One demerit to East, on the whole.

A bucketful of demerits to West, however. He should smell disaster in the air, and he should run as fast as his legs can carry him.

Some experts might run out to two spades at once with the West hand, and some "cute" experts might try two clubs first in the hope of inspiring East to show his best suit. If West got to two spades, he might be doubled and set one trick (or, perhaps, even two tricks). The loss would be small compared to what actually happened.

A good bridge player should scramble out of a bad situation without leaving his skin behind.

IN TUNE WITH THE TIMES

With TOMMIE WALTERS

This ought to make the young, and not so young, tads happy. "Hopalong Cassidy," long a favorite cowboy star, has been signed to a new 10-year contract by N.B.C. for television release. "Hoppy" will make a series of 52 new half-hour films over a period of the next two years, all of which will be syndicated to TV markets. The first of the new series will start on the air in October. William Boyd, who has sky-rocketed the character into an institution in a little over three years, has been termed a fixture in the present scene as basic as apple pie and cheese. The "Hoppy" films which were first seen in movie theatres in the middle 1930's, brought Boyd overnight fame over the TV networks in 1949. The films became one of the top TV attractions, and then came the fabulous demands for "Hopalong" in other media. His comic strip characterizations, which appear daily in The Times, and his radio and TV shows have a fan rating listed in the millions.

☆ ☆ ☆

Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis are currently busy editing all the kinescopes of their TV shows for the service circuit in Korea. . . . Two other favorite Times' comic strips—"Our Boarding House" and "Alley Oop"—are headed for the TV screens. Phildan TV Productions will film the former and Fletcher Markel—no stranger in these parts—and David Raskin have taken an option on "Alley." . . . Ann Sothern, who was offered some fancy contracts following her in-person click on the new medium, has decided to put all her eggs into a TV series basket titled "Private Secretary."

☆ ☆ ☆

Bill Bendix's TV version of "The Life of Riley," slated for the fall, is reminding people that Jackie Gleason played the role in 13 telecasts two years ago. Jackie's gone on to video stardom on his own, but the show flopped as a TV vehicle because audiences wouldn't accept anyone except Bendix as Riley. . . . Gilbert Roland is set for a filmed series based on the "Chihuahua Kid." . . . Other stars headed for TV films of their own are Charles Boyer, Rosalind Russell, Dick Powell, Joel McCrea and Robert Cummings.

☆ ☆ ☆

We predict a TV career for Shirley Temple by the time her new son reaches his six-month birthday. The offers are reported pouring in.

AN ANTIQUE GEM

Most old homes require remodelling expense. This one does not. While it is an 19th century masterpiece the past owners have preserved it well. Modern plumbing, heating and structural reconditioning has been done without destroying the antique appointments, such as, a large colonial kitchen with old stone fireplace, doors and windows. There are three bedrooms and one very modern bath, living room, dining room, through hall, basement and oil heating, two-car separate garage. Five lots attractively landscaped, with plenty of shrubs and trees.

Northwestern Bowling Club Awards Given

Presentation of cups and trophies for bowling were made to teams and players of the Northwestern Creamery Employees' Association at an annual banquet held in the lower ballroom of the Crystal Garden recently.

High scoring team led by Lil Henderson received the Northwestern Trophy presented by Mrs. F. Norton. Harold Gent, captain, received the Crawford Trophy.

The following won cups: Harry Cool, H. Gent, Miss Lil Henderson, Miss Beryl Lifton, Miss Peggy Longbottom, Miss Marie Wilkinson and J. Hickman.

Twenty-five-year anniversary gifts were also presented to Mr. and Mrs. Eric Mawle and Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Davies.

A feature of the prize-giving ceremony was a game between the Jersey Farms Association Employees bowling team from Vancouver, and the N.W. association's team. The Vancouver team won and carried home the Trimble Trophy, presented by A. Trimble.

Red-Led Union Wins at Trail

C.I.O. Union Drops Out of Fight For Bargaining Right at Smelter

TRAIL, B.C., May 15 (CP) — United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) today withdrew from the battle for bargaining authority at the multi-million dollar Trail plant of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company.

The 4,000 workers voted to maintain their present bargaining agency — the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.), headed by Harvey Murphy, veteran labor leader and avowed Communist.

"Steel is through with the fight," announced Murray Cotterill, of Toronto, national publicity director.

"The vote enables Mine-Mill to be unchallenged," he said. "Our hope is that all the men will join the union (the Mine-Mill) and get the best possible agreement from the company."

He hoped there would be no discrimination against the men "connected with steel."

Murphy promised "no discrimination," and said:

"The vote was a victory for decent trade unionism. Our job now is to unite the men on the hill (at the smelter plant) and to remove dissension."

In a two-year fight, the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) battled to oust the Mine-Mill union, fighting their case through the B.C. labor relations board and the courts.

Two days of balloting, in a vote ordered by the labor board, ended early today and the count showed:

Mine-Mill: 1,949.

Steelworkers: 1,669.

This gave Mine-Mill a majority of 280. Only a straight majority was necessary. There were 16 spoiled ballots.

Employees had the choice on the ballott of saying they wanted neither union. Only 49 voted "neither."

Final decision on the bargaining agency, however, rests with the labor board.

It will hold hearings shortly on Steel's application for bargaining authority. Twice—on May 5, 1950, and May 7, 1951—the board refused to certify Steel.

Mine-Mill was ejected from both the Canadian Congress of Labor and the C.I.O. on charges of Communist domination.

Murphy claimed 3,000 paid up members in the big Consolidated mining plant. Steel placed its membership at more than 50 per cent.

Man Charged In Murder of 3 at London

LONDON, Ont., May 15 (CP)—Archie Seneca, 33, today was charged with the murder of Mrs. Lydia Riley, one of three persons shot to death Sunday near Muncey Indian reserve.

Seneca, father of four children, was arrested after intensive police investigation into the triple slaying of Mrs. Riley, her niece and nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Henry.

All were residents of the reserve, about 15 miles north of here.

The bodies were discovered in a gulley near the reserve last Sunday, shot with a .22-calibre rifle. Police said Mrs. Riley's purse, containing $50, was missing.

Reserve residents were on their way home from funeral services Wednesday for the triple-slaying victims when Seneca was taken to jail in London.

Earlier, Seneca told police that he left the three about 4 a.m. Sunday after Mrs. Riley and the Henrys had an argument. Police said there was evidence of a drinking party but nothing positive on the numbers involved.

The spot where the bodies were found has been used as a meeting place for bootleggers selling wine to operators inside the reserve.

Police said that one or two of the victims were shot on the principle that "dead men tell no tales." The person responsible apparently wished to silence witnesses to the first killing.

FEDERAL LOAN TO IMPROVE N. WESTMINSTER HARBOR

OTTAWA, May 15 (CP).—The Commons railway committee today gave speedy passage to a bill to grant a $1,250,000 federal loan and extend the boundaries of the busy New Westminster harbor in British Columbia. The bill went through in about 30 minutes.

K. K. Reid, chairman of the New Westminster Harbor Commission, explained that there was a growing demand for ship dockage space at the harbor and present facilities were inadequate.

The loan would be used to build new docks and lay down any new rail trackage needed.

Civic Reception Planned for Soldiers Returning After Year's War Service

VANCOUVER, May 15 (CP) — Bound for home after more than a year in Korea, 1,157 officers and men of the Canadian Army will arrive here at 10 p.m. Sunday.

Army headquarters announced the arrival time today. The men are aboard the U.S. army transport Private Murremori.

Plans for the homecoming were under way today. They include a colorful parade through Vancouver streets and a civic reception.

The list of arrivals includes 42 soldiers from British Columbia. They include:

Pte. Donald C. Kerr, L.-Cpl. William R. Evans, Sgmn. Charlie Frey, Pte. David E. Richards and Pte. Trevor J. West, all of Victoria, and David Stewart, Cowichan.

PARIS DIPLOMAT TO VISIT HERE

Hubert Guerin, ambassador of France to Canada, and Mrs. Guerin, will visit Victoria during the latter part of next week, it was learned today. He will be guest at Government House during his stay here.

The ambassador and his wife will arrive in Vancouver Monday for a three-day visit before coming to Victoria. He is on his first official visit to Western Canada since his appointment to Ottawa in 1949.

Vancouver Stocks Closing Prices

Stocks traded lightly at Vancouver Exchange in the late session today. Prices shaded downward for most of the trading period but firmed again towards the close.

Oils predominated in trading for most of the session. Pacific Pete traded around $12.50, Home $15, Charter $2.20, York 50 cents, Okalta $4.20.

Mines and industrials made fractional advances towards the close.

Blast Red Supply Centre

This dramatic photo of a U.S. Air Force F-80 Shooting Star fighter-bomber has captured the flaming action which occurred when day-long flights of Allied war planes blasted the Communist supply centre at Suan, North Korea. A tank of napalm can be seen just after being released below the left wing of the jet.

Gas Shortage Critical For Airlines in B.C.

The British Columbia aviation industry, hard hit by government curtailment of aircraft gasoline to 65 per cent of normal, is hopeful that predictions of the United States oil-workers' strike ending in 48 hours are true.

A high government official in Washington, D.C., predicted today that most of the 90,000 striking oil and refinery workers will be on the job "within the next 48 hours."

Trans-Canada Air Lines reported it is "feeling the pinch but coping pretty well." Crew training, aircraft placement, and extra passenger flights have all been drastically curtailed and have enabled the company to maintain its Victoria-Vancouver service close to schedule.

"The main trouble is between Vancouver and Montreal," he said, "where the five flights each way have been cut to four."

Royal Canadian Mounted Police have not yet been able to judge the affect of the curtailment, imposed on them like others.

The force operates three aircraft for urgent investigation, transfer of prisoners, inspections and access to remote portions of the province.

Queen Charlotte Airlines Limited has appealed to the federal government for enough gasoline to allow it to carry on its northern British Columbia service, an official said.

B.C. Air Lines reported turning business away every day, and is doing nothing but essential flying.

Montreal Man Guilty; Slew Half-Brother

MONTREAL, May 15 (CP)—Peter Mentenko, 27, was convicted today of murdering his half-brother, George Henechuk, two years ago and was sentenced to be hanged Aug. 29.

Defence counsel Alexandre Chevalier said he will appeal.

Mentenko showed no emotion when Mr. Justice Paul Ste. Marie pronounced sentence.

The jury returned its verdict at 10.25 a.m. after an adjournment Wednesday night.

Two Bordeaux Jail Inmates Die

MONTREAL, May 15 (CP)—Two men have died at Bordeaux jail in the last 24 hours, but medico-legal experts said today they found no proof the deaths resulted from a dysentery outbreak which struck approximately 100 prisoners.

Dr. Georges Gagnon, assistant superintendent of the mental wing, said a 46-year-old patient died from bronchial pneumonia and a heart condition. He did not identify the victim, but said he was in the mental wing for 22 years.

The other death was that of Maurice Israelson, 66, who died in the infirmary early Wednesday.

'Completely Feasible,' Says Vice-President

By MONTE ROBERTS

When natural gas is piped into the Pacific Northwest, Vancouver Island will get its share—most likely through a pipeline entering the Island in the vicinity of Cordova Bay.

It is "completely feasible" to pipe natural gas into Vancouver Island—and it could be one of the island's greatest assets, W. C. Mainwaring, vice-president of the B.C. Electric Railway Co., said in an interview at the Empress Hotel today.

Mr. Mainwaring has just returned from gas association meetings in California, and was here this morning to address the National Association of Electrical Distributors.

SURVEY MADE

A possible route for the pipe line has been surveyed aerially by a top-flight engineer, and "no engineering difficulties are expected," Mr. Mainwaring said.

The pipe line route would likely "island-hop" from Bellingham through the Gulf Islands, to a point somewhere near Cordova Bay. The longest underwater stretch would be not more than seven miles.

"Whether they bring gas into the Pacific Northwest States from north or south," he explained, "we can cut into the main transmission line between Vancouver and Seattle.

"I am almost more interested in seeing natural gas on Vancouver Island than on the mainland," he added. "Being an island, Victoria's hydro-electric potential has limitations. Even when fully developed, the time would come when further expansion of hydro-electric power is impossible.

"Natural gas could be the island's greatest asset."

Mr. Mainwaring has been concentrating on the potentials of natural gas for more than a year. In 1951, he traveled over 100,000 miles on research and survey trips; averaged less than two days a week at home during that period.

HUME GREETS 'ROCKY' FOR ALL CANADA

By ROY THORSEN

VANCOUVER, May 15 — Mayor Fred Hume of this city extended the hand of welcome to Brigadier John M. Rockingham at Sea Island today. And in the hand-clasp which greeted the returning commander of Canada's fighting men in Korea was the warmth of thanks for a job well done, expressed for all Canada.

Brig. Rockingham came home the long-way round. He went to Australia, where he was born, for a brief visit, stopped at Honolulu and San Francisco, and transshipped to B.C. today.

Vancouver has been talking about a civic reception. But it will depend upon how long the two-war 40-year-old brigadier remains here.

He may pay a flying visit to his former home town, Victoria, during the few days before he leaves to take up his appointment as director-general of military training at Ottawa.

He leaves the job of commanding the 25th Canadian Brigade in Korea after 13 months of battle service.

It will be the first time Brig. Rockingham has set foot on Canadian soil in more than a year. He went to Korea in April 1951, with the main body of the 25th Brigade.

"We want to give his wife and family the chance to have every minute possible with him," said Mrs. H. R. L. Davis, president of the Women's Auxiliary, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry.

Mrs. Rockingham said she planned nothing special for her husband's home-coming.

Beria Dark Horse in Soviet Contest For Stalin's Mantle of Dictatorship

By LEON DENNEN

PARIS, May 15 (NEA)—Lavrenti P. Beria is the dark horse among Stalin's successors.

Balding, stocky, 52-year-old Beria has mild manners and an even milder appearance. He usually wears a pince-nez which makes him look like a pre-revolutionary divinity student. He is also a firm believer in terror.

As head of the secret MVD, Beria wields unlimited power wherever the Kremlin's agents operate.

By a combination of scientific planning—which he had learned as a student of architecture—and by ruthless disregard of human life, he helped Malenkov keep the Soviet war industries humming. By keeping the firing squads working overtime he assured the safety of the Communist dictatorship.

Beria is a firm exponent of strong measures and direct action. He runs a vast espionage ring in the countries outside the iron curtain. He commands all of Russia's numerous forced labor camps which supply most of the manpower for Soviet industry. He is in charge of security in the satellite states.

Like Malenkov, Beria has no cord to the outside world. He first came to Stalin's attention in 1934 when he published an incredible book on the clandestine battles of Bolshevism in Stalin's native Georgia.

The future chief of Russia's secret police realized early in the game on which side his bread was buttered. He attributed to Stalin the major part in Bolshevism's conquest of Georgia — although the Red dictator played practically no role in his own country.

In 1921, Georgian Socialists established an anti-Communist republic. It was drowned in blood on Lenin's orders—almost unnoticed by the civilized world.

Georgian Socialists revolted again in 1924. This time the chief of the firing squads was Beria. It is the only connection between Beria and Socialism, Beria and history.

The Chief of the MVD is probably the most hated man in Russia. He could never rule the country alone. Only as a member of a "troika" (triumvirate) including Molotov and Malenkov will he ever be able to succeed his Georgian predecessor, Stalin.

To stay in power, Beria will thus have to throw his support to one of the two leading heirs to Stalin's mantle. He has apparently decided that Malenkov is his man.

With Malenkov and Beria against him, Molotov will face an uphill struggle to remain in power — despite the support of Marshal Bulganin and other members of the Politburo.

Without Stalin to control them, his heirs may well tear each other and themselves to pieces in mutual rivalry.

But no matter who succeeds Stalin the Western world has little reason to expect a breathing spell. In the concrete, nothing will be changed.

The single party, the enslaved trade unions, the all-powerful police, the brutal armed force will continue as in the past to keep an iron grip on the oppressed peoples of the Soviet empire.

With Stalin dead, his agents will still remain everywhere they are in the world. The Communist plans for aggression will remain what they are now. The hot-cold war will continue to be led by the same men.

It is customary in Asiatic countries to keep the death of the chief a secret. This allows time to quietly regulate the details of the succession — especially when the reign of the deceased has been despotic.

Will the Politburo continue this tradition after the Asiatic Stalin disappears from the scene? Some Soviet experts in western Europe believe that the Russian people—and the world—may not find out about Stalin's death until long after the dictator has died.
